DAVID JAMESON IS SUMMONED BY DEATH

City Benefactor Passes Away At Home On Sunday

Death Is Mourned By Entire Community—Had Been Ill For Several Years

AIDED MUCH IN CITY'S PROGRESS

Was One Of Organizers Of Citizens National Bank; Public Funeral Tuesday

David Jameson, banker, prominent citizen, public benefactor and man of outstanding, sterling character, known and loved not only in this city, but throughout the state and country, died Sunday, March 20, 1927, at the stroke of 12 o'clock noon, after an extended illness at the family residence, 330 North Jefferson street. He was in his 71st year.

This city mourns the loss of its outstanding citizen, whose thoughtfulness for others has been manifested not only recently in a magnificent manner, but throughout the many years of his residence here, and in many ways. His chief joy in life, according to those who knew and appreciated him best, was giving to his community and others, those things that might bring joy and comfort to others.

Ill For Several Years

Mr. Jameson had been in ill health for the past five or six years, but not to such an extent that he could not look after his numerous business affairs and public benefactions, although in the past two years his condition was such that he was not as active as had been his custom. In the past few weeks his condition had become such that his death was not unexpected. Although handicapped by his physical condition, he retained his interest and personal direction in his affairs until the last.

He was born near Warren, Trumbull county, Ohio, July 24, 1856, the son of Bevan Pearson and Sarah Ann Blair Jameson. His early education was received in the public and high schools of Warren, O. In the spring of 1874, and after graduation from the Warren, O., high school, he entered Allgheny College, where he continued his studies until he had completed his course of study and was awarded the degree of A. B. or Bachelor of Arts. He then continued his studies in Vic-

To Pay Tribute

In the death of David Jameson, New Castle has lost one of its most distinguished citizens, and one who has had the interest of the city and its people at heart, and it would seem fitting and proper that the city and its people should pause a moment in their business or their every day life to pay respect to his memory. It has been arranged that the fire whistle blow at 3 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, the hour of the funeral service, for a period of one minute and it is suggested that all people, wherever they may be, pause for the duration of the blowing of the whistle and stand in silence, in memory of their friend and benefactor.

Governor Fisher Has No Statement On Election Issue

(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Pa., March 21.—Governor John S. Fisher today refused to discuss the present status of his election reform program or to indicate that it has been changed in any day during the week end. BROWNING WINS SUIT

(Bulletin
(International News Service)
CARMEL, N. Y., March 21.—"Peaches" Heenan Browning's dreams of wealth and comfort at the expense of her millionaire husband, Edward W. "Daddy" Browning, blew up in a cloud of smoke today when Justice A. H. F. Seeger, who heard the famous counter-suit for separation, handed down an opinion in favor of the elderly real estate magnate.

"Daddy" under this ruling will not have to pay "Peaches" any allimony. She had been receiving $300 a week since shortly after their separation, pending the outcome of their cross-actions. The next move will be the preparation of findings in fact and conclusions in law by the successful attorney and alternative findings by "Peaches" lawyers, after which the findings adopted by Justice Seeger will become the formal decision.

Browning won every point in the suit, Justice Seeger stating in a nine-page decision that "Peaches" had failed to substantiate her charges, and the suit for separation was therefore denied, and that Browning was entitled to judgment of separation forever.

Plan To Seize More Election Ballot Boxes

Armed With Mandate From Reed, Committee Counsel Prepares For Seizure

By LAWRENCE SULLIVAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, March 21—Armed with the mandate of the Reed campaign fund investigating committee, Jerry C. South, the committee's counsel and special deputy, prepared today for a new invasion of Pennsylvania to seize election paraphernalia in four counties for the scrutiny in connection with the Vare-Wilson senatorial contest.

His arrival in the Keystone state, probably Wednesday, is expected to set off a legal battle which will be fought to the supreme court. Questions of constitutional law are involved, for South's attempt to impound the ballot boxes and voting lists of Delaware, Lackawanna, Schuylkill and Luzerne counties will be fought in the federal courts.

Challenged at every turn since the adjournment of the 69th congress on March 4, the committee presses on undaunted. Stripped for the time being of the services of the senate sergeant-at-arms, it has deputized its own attorney as process server in ballot-seizing chore. Denied access to the senate coffers for expenses, it has provided its own funds. Characterized by its opponents as dead, powerless and impotent, it issued orders to carry on and thereby has paved the way for one of the most spectacular battles in American history—the spectacle of the judicial branch of the government called upon to curb the activities of a committee claiming to represent the legislative branch.

E. E. McGill To Retire As Head Of Local Bank

Asks Board Of L. S. And T. Co. To Relieve Him Of Duties As President

WILL REMAIN WITH BANK DIRECTORATE

Accepts Presidency Of Bank In Orlando, Florida—To Spend Winters In South

Due to the fact that the Florida winters are more beneficial to his health than the rigors of the northern climate, E. E. McGill, president of the Lawrence Savings & Trust Company of this city, is announcing a new plan for his business life in the future.

He has requested the board of directors of the Lawrence Savings & Trust Company to relieve him of the active duties of president of the institution in the near future. He expects to remain with the bank as a director and likely as chairman of the board of directors, but relieved of the presidency, because of the fact that he desires to spend more of the year in Florida.

Will Share Management

Mr. McGill has been identified with the Lawrence Savings & Trust Company since the organization of the bank, and as chairman of the directors will continue to share in the active management of the bank's affairs.

In connection with his winter residence in Florida, Mr. McGill will also be active in the banking business in Orlando. He has been offered the presidency of the Orlando Commercial Bank, one of the strong institutions of the city, and has accepted with the proviso that he will be free to be in New Castle during the summer time and also to give such time as may be necessary during the remainder of the year to the New Castle banking institution.

For the past 12 years Mr. McGill has been going to Florida during part of the winter and he finds that the condition of his health will be benefitted if he spends the entire cold weather season in the South. For this reason he desires to make the changes mentioned.

FEDERAL BUILDING, Detroit, March 21.—Aaron Sapiro, so-called "wheat king", drew blood today in his million-dollar libel suit against Henry Ford.

The wheat king scored impressively when he placed in evidence documentary evidence showing that the Ford crusade against the Sapiro cooperatives originated as a campaign against the Jews. This was the chief contention of Sapiro in his libel suit.

Earl Carroll Loses Appeal To Escape Prison Sentence

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, March 21.—Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer, today lost his fight in the supreme court to escape a prison sentence resulting from the famous "bath tub" party given on the stage of his theater.

The high court denied Carroll's petition for a writ of review of his conviction on a perjury charge.

No statement accompanied the brief announcement of the court.

Carroll faces a sentence of a year and a day in federal prison at Atlanta and a fine of $2,000.

The only avenue of escape from prison now open to Carrol is a petition in the supreme court for reconsideration of its action of today, together with a stay of sentence, an almost hopeless prospect.

Carroll was indicted for perjury after he had testified before a grand jury in New York that Joyce Hawley, a chorus girl, did not bathe in a tub of champagne—or even water—at the party on February 22, 1926.

Miners Preparing For Coal Strike

Soft Coal Miners And Mine Owners Prepare For Bitter Battle

DECLARE NO PLAN TO AVERT SHUTDOWN

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Pa., Mar. 21.—Pennsylvania soft coal miners and mine owners are gathering here today to prepare for a bitter struggle.

All mining operations in the unionized soft coal fields of the country will cease April 1st. Indications are the tie-up will last at least four months. There are strong reasons for believing it may last much longer.

On April 1st, 300,000 miners will cease work. In four months, their loss in wages will be $150,000,000. The loss to business will be greater than this.

It is more than a wage dispute. It is a fight on the part of powerful operators to smash or at least cripple the United Mine Workers of America. On the other hand, the union hopes to regain its complete domination of the coal industry, weakened in recent years.

Theoretically, the general business welfare of the country should not suffer until early winter. The stocks of coal above ground are by far the largest in history, and will last through the autumn. If history repeats itself, however, greedy speculators will start prices skyrocketing within a few weeks and industries, either caught unprepared, or panicky, will pay through the nose.

Neither side has any definite plan to avert the shutdown. On the contrary, each is making preparations for long, enforced idleness.

The present wage contract, negotiated at Jacksonville in 1924, expires at midnight March 31st. In the absence of a new working agreement the union miners must automatically cease work. Neither side believes that between now and April 1st a new contract can be made for the Central Competitive Field.

The Central Field, composed of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, is the heart of the bituminous industry. It determines the wages for all other fields and produces more than 45 per cent of the nation's soft coal.

This controversy does not affect

Cathedral Fund Over Half Million

Over-Subscription To Cathedral Fund Is More Than $200,000

FINAL FIGURES NOT YET KNOWN

Although the final figures will not be known definitely until after the audit and final check-up is made this evening, it is definitely known that the subscriptions to the Scottish Rite Cathedral completion fund total well over $500,000, said Reed Megown, vice chairman of the campaign committee.

Mr. Megown said that the success of the campaign was due entirely to the united co-operation both of all members in New Castle and the unexpected magnificent support of the surrounding towns.

And not only was the support of the membership of the fraternity so great but the people of the community who are not members paid a great tribute to the fraternity and the magnificent building they have built by their wonderful subscriptions.

In behalf of the committee, Mr. Megown wishes to express their highest appreciation for the way everyone got behind the movement and put it away over the top.

He also says that the committee found it a pleasure to work with the General Organizations company of Chicago who planned the campaign and looked after each detail and left nothing undone to make the mechanics of the campaign a success.

Mr. Megown says that they will be able to use only the $297,000 asked for and that they have not yet planned just what adjustment will be made on account of the large oversubscription that was so unexpected. The committee will take that up at some date soon.

His clothing was speckled with mud-water spots.

White took the auto number and said: "He will have to pay for cleaning my clothing."

Chaos Prevails In Shanghai As Troops Pour In

Foreigners Remain In International Settlement Under Guard

U. S. MARINES ARE LANDED IN CITY

Japanese And Portuguese Troops Also Land To Help British

By ALFRED MEYER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

SHANGHAI, March 21.—Chaos prevails in Shanghai today following the occupation of the native city by the victorious Cantonese.

The fleeing Shantung troops are impressing citizens into service and are firing indiscriminately as they go.

Cantonese sympathizers, without waiting for the creation of a nationalist city administration, have taken matters into their own hands, seized the police stations and are conducting a guerilla warfare on those whom they regard as their enemies.

British Soldier Killed

The first fatality to occur among the foreign troops here was that of a British Punjabi soldier, who was killed by a sniper while his detachment was rushing to the northern boundaries of the settlement. Two other Punjabis were wounded, but not seriously.

Guerilla warfare has suddenly become a serious menace. The pro-Cantonese guerillas, secreted in houses on native territory north of Szechuen road, are firing spasmodically on passersby. Several foreigners have been fired upon, some of them reporting narrow escapes. These snipers are believed to have been responsible for the death and injuries to the Punjabis.

American, Portuguese and other units of the volunteer corps are standing by in the trouble centers in an attempt to stamp out this harrassing rifle and revolver fire.

Report Scores Killed

The guerillas, active throughout the Chinese territory about the city, are seriously hampering the retreat of the Shantungites. Several engagements have been reported in which scores of civilian-clad guerillas were killed and wounded.

The guerillas now control virtually all the Chinese police stations in the Chinese territory. They killed one policeman and themselves suffered one casualty in capturing a police station in the Jess Field Park area.

The international settlement is still inviolate, with strong guards posted and all international citizens ordered to keep within the settlement.

U. S. Marines Landed

American marines have been landed and have been put on guard duty. Japanese and Portuguese troops have also been landed to aid the British troops.

British troops have been fired on by retreating Shantungites. Two American soldiers doing patrol duty within the international settlement have been beaten up.

Outside of Shanghai similar chaos prevails. Chang Show is reported to have fallen to the Cantonese, thus cutting the Shanghai-

Busy Week In Lower House

Interest To Center On Administrative Code And Gasoline Tax Bill

LAST WEEK FOR PRESENTING BILLS

By ROBERT F. GORMAN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 21.—With 30 bills on the third reading calendar in the house, the lower body tonight will get a good start on a week which promises by far to be the busiest of the present session.

Principal interest will be centered during the week of amendments to the administrative code and the gasoline tax bills, now being held in committee in the house. The belief is general that they will be kept there, if possible, until a decision is made in the senate on the administration's election bills. Gov. Fisher has approved both the code amendments and the tax measure and a move on the part of the administration to speed up action in the house is being anxiously awaited.

The last of the bills to come up for action during the present session will be introduced this week for the house by resolution, has fixed March 23 as the final date for the introduction of proposed legislation.

Among the measures to appear on tonight's calendar for final action will be the Hess bill creating the Pennsylvania securities commission for the registration and regulation of individuals and entities selling securities. The bill is sponsored by Representative Hess, Lancaster, and is an administration measure.

Some of the other bills to be acted upon finally will be the Bush bill permitting county treasurers to retain for their own use fees collected for services as agents of the commonwealth; Schwartz bill defining murder and manslaughter by motor vehicles; Burke bill making municipalities responsible for the negligence of their employes.

Story Of Three Counties To Be Told In History

Proposed Publication To Include, Lawrence, Beaver and Mercer Counties

Preparation of a history to include the Shenango and Beaver Valley, Beaver, Mercer and Lawrence county, is being started here. At a meeting held at the office of C. H. Akens Saturday afternoon, a number of local residents were present and heard the plan outlined. The intention is to make the history more authentic than any that has ever been published in this section. The three counties named are closely related as to their earlier history, and that is why it has been thought best to make it a three, rather than a one county history. Preparation of the material will be in the hands of persons familiar with early history, so far as possible, and an effort will be made to cover all subjects, such as early land grants, churches, schools, industries and other subjects.

The historical matter is to be turned over to a company that proposes to publish the book and take chances on the sale of the histories to meet the publication costs. No subjects were assigned at the meeting Saturday, but another meeting will be held soon at which the matter will be taken up.

Nanking railroad, and barring the retreat of the northerners in Shanghai.

Although calm is reported everywhere in the international settlement, there is great tensity and fears are expressed that either the retreating northerners or the guerrilla sympathizers of the Cantonese may burst forth.

The general strike which was called upon the entry of the Cantonese into Shanghai has already seriously hampered normal life, and with 100,000 workers reported idle there may be difficulty in maintaining public services.

The greatest danger at present appears to be from the guerrilla warfare of the un-uniformed Cantonese sympathizers who have already clashed many times with the Shantungites and it is reported that scores of guerrillas have been killed and wounded. Sharp fighting occurred before the guerrillas took over the Jess Field park area police station, one policeman being killed as well as one guerrilla.

First reports of disorders in the international settlement came when it was learned that the international police made several baton charges in the Nanking road in an effort to clear the streets of truculent crowds.

Evidence of the chaotic conditions that rule in the native city was given today when it was reported that Nationalist guerrillas, storming Dixwell road police station, found 40 northern soldiers taking refuge there and murdered all of them.

Sniping guerrillas are reported to have wounded one American, one British, one Portuguese and one German subject, who were driving automobiles in the international settlement.

Chinese Section Occupied

SHANGHAI, March 21.—Shanghai has fallen to the Cantonese and British troops have been fired upon by Chinese soldiery.

The Chinese section of the city was occupied at noon today by the victorious nationalists, who are driving all opposition before them. Previously they had occupied Lunghwa, a suburb, and they then quickly took possession of several districts in the main sections of Shanghai itself.

British troops guarding the international settlement were fired upon by retreating Shantung soldiers a few hours after the Cantonese had taken over the city. This action occurred when the British guard refused the Shantungites permission to enter the international settlement.

United States marines were landed today and given the extreme eastern section of the international settlement to guard.

A state of emergency has been declared.

The Shantung troops are retreating toward Woosung, 20 miles down the Yangtse river from Shanghai.

Grim scenes were enacted at the railroad stations today as a result of the evacuation of the defeated troops. The Shantungites are forcing their way at the point of pistols and are impressing what help is needed. One officer ruthlessly beheaded a coolie with his sword when the coolie was slow in moving the officer's baggage.

Carter's right leg was broken and Cline sustained a cut in his left side which required 20 stitches. The accident occurred last night near here. The car went into a ditch.

State Policemen Find Illicit Booze

State Policemen Brush and Munsee, assisting county officers, today reported as having found a Ford roadster with four gallons of "moonshine" along the Pulaski road. They visited a place in Hickory township where they found a 25 gallon still and a gallon of illicit whiskey. According to the police they sought John Shaefer, but he could not be located.

Town Talk

Concerning the recent visit in this section of Sir Henry Thornton, the Gazette-Times said yesterday in part:

The "I knew him when" club is still in session along the Erie and Ashtabula division of the Pennsylvania railroad as a result of the recent trip of Sir Henry Thornton over this section of the line. Twenty years ago Henry Thornton was superintendent of the E. & A. division. Now he is Sir Henry Thornton, president and chairman of the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways, Canada's great 22,500-mile system extending from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Sir Henry was traveling from Erie, where he was guest of honor and chief speaker at the annual dinner of the Chamber of Commerce, to this city to act as toastmaster for the Traffic Club dinner. Conductor Dunlavey, in charge of the train to which Sir Henry's car was attached, had been conductor of the special when Divisional Superintendent Thornton made his trips of inspection in the old days. Dunlavey went back to visit his former chief during the course of the journey to this city.

"Just the Same"

"He hasn't changed a bit", he declared afterwards. "He's a knight now and he has a whale of a big job, but he is just the same as he was in the old days."

That appeared to be the opinion of all of Sir Henry's old associates who assembled at Erie and other points in the division to greet him. Among them were E. T. Whiter, now vice president in charge of the central region of the Pennsylvania: F. J. Perry, trainmaster; T. L. Bailey, road foreman of engines; E. A. Fenton, divisional agent, and Henry Alexander, in charge of the New Castle Transfer Station. L. V. Hummel, former assistant chief clerk of the division and now assistant to the president of the Canadian National Railways, accompanied Sir Henry.

Continuous wet weather conditions in the past few days has resulted in the rivers of this district assuming rather swollen conditions. This is particularly true of the Neshannock river, which is always first to show the effects of a general downpour of rain.

Back for a six months' stay in the northern hemisphere, the sun escorted spring into these latitudes at 9:30 a. m. today. The period of the vernal equinox is always welcome and always wonderful. The rescue of the earth from the death-like grasp of winter each year is an old, old story, but an ever new one in its beauty. The other seasons have each their special loveliness, but spring has youth, freshness, a charm which its elder sisters of the year cannot rival.

Even within the stone-bound streets of the city the hardy, rowdy sparrows become turbulent with warmer blood and their matings on the house tops are done to lyrical shrieks. The parks simulate the annual resurrection of the broader countryside and reveal to city dwellers some of the beauty with which the fields beyond the city gates are decking themselves. The adventurous robin flaunts his plumage in the squares before the admiring eyes of urbanites, and man responds to the season and with quickened step and higher heart beat, about his daily round of duty. The winter is dead, spring comes and there is rejoicing among all creatures.

Wintry winds may bluster about for a while, but the sign in the heavens is sure herald of spring.

AGED MAN DIES.

J. D. Pennington (left), now prohibition administrator at Pittsburgh, and Roy A. Haynes (right) were the outstanding candidates for the post of Prohibition Commissioner created by the last Congress. Two "schools" of prohibition were involved in the fight. One, described as interested in prohibition chiefly because it is the law, and headed by General Lincoln C. Andrews, backed Pennington, and the other, described as interested in prohibition chiefly as a righteous movement, and headed by the Anti-Saloon League, backed Haynes.

toria University, which is now a part of Toronto University. In his school and college life he developed and displayed an intensive, studious nature which he maintained throughout his life and until its close.

Read Law at Warren

Upon leaving college he read law for three years with Hutchins and Tuttle at Warren, O., and after his admission to the bar in that state practiced that profession for a short time in that city. From 1881 to 1883 he practiced law in Kansas City, Mo. He removed from that place to this city and was admitted to the practice of law in Lawrence county and Pennsylvania on November 7, 1883 and had resided here ever since. He practiced law here for a period of 10 years, and at the close of that period withdrew from the practice of his profession and took up an active business career, in which he was eminently successful.

It was during the period that he was in training as a law student that he for a time followed the vocation of newspaper reporter, and he often expressed the opinion that it was the experience gained as a newspaperman that proved the best of training for him in the practice of law.

In 1883 he formed a partnership in the practice of law with the late George E. Treadwell, prominent attorney of that period, and founder of The News. This partnership continued until the death of Mr. Treadwell.

Organizes Citizens National Bank

In the year 1891 Mr. Jameson associated himself with the late Hon. Thomas W. Phillips in the organization of the Citizens National Bank and Mr. Jameson served that institution first as cashier, then as vice president and finally and until the time of his death as president. The success of this banking institution was due in a very great measure to the business ability of Mr. Jameson, as his personal attention was largely given over to the interest of the institution.

But his business activity was not confined to the bank and for many years, he was interested in a number of successful manufacturing enterprises. His largest business interest was in the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company, the largest manufacturer and dealer in plumbing supplies in the world. He served that corporation as a director almost from the time of its organization. He was also a director and vice-president of the National Radiator company, which is now one of the larger manufacturing institutions of this city.

Mr. Jameson was the father of the good roads movement in Lawrence county and in a broader sense of the state of Pennsylvania and it is due to his foresight and perseverance, in spite of great opposition, that New Castle and Lawrence county rank third in the entire state of Pennsylvania in improved highways.

Headed A. A. A.

He was president of the American Automobile association in 1917-18 and 19, and declined re-election to that position in 1920. He was the only man that ever held the presidency of that organization for that period of time.. It may be taken as a true indication of his prominence and ability in the movement for better roads in this country. He had been for a number of years and was at the time of his death, a director of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation. He was one of the first owners of an automobile in this country.

In 1916, Mr. Jameson was appointed by the governor of Pennsylvania as a member of the Lake Erie and Ohio River Canal board, but after an investigation, he filed a report adverse to the project.

It was as a public benefactor and philanthropist, that Mr. Jameson was best known and loved by the people of this city and it was in this work, that he gave expression to his ideals and thoughtfulness of others, although he in no sense sought public acclaim for what he did, but owing to the fact that those things which he did were so beneficial to his fellowman, there was a constant outpouring of public approval and acclaim of his deeds.

To Complete Hospital

His most recent gift to the people of New Castle, was the presentation of a $600,000 hospital, the charter of which states that it is designed to relieve suffering, regardless of race, creed, or financial ability of those receiving its care. Up until the time of his death, although in poor health, he held an absorbing interest in the plans for the institution, which is to be known as the Jameson Memorial hospital, and which will soon be under construction. Full provision for the completion of this gift has been made and his death will in no manner interfere with his intent.

Then there was also the recent gift of some seven acres of beautiful wooded lands along the Neshannock creek in the Croton district for public park purposes. Some years ago, he presented the city with the public comfort station on Water street, which has proven one of his greater public benefactions.

It was the generosity of Mr. Jameson, which made possible in a very large measure, the wonderful work of the Crippled Children's clinic established and maintained for years by the Rotary club of New Castle. He was chairman of the committee of the club in charge of this work up until the time of his death. While these works were his outstanding and best known works for others, there were numerous other evidences of his interest in the community and its people, many of which were known only to himself, his family and more intimate friends and those benefitting.

He was a member of the New Castle Rotary club, New Castle Lodge No. 195 I. O. O. F., the Lawrence club, the New Castle Country club, the New Castle Field club and the Duquesne club of Pittsburgh. He had served New Castle I. O. O. F. Lodge as Noble Grand. He was also a Mason.

Mr. Jameson was one of a large family of ten children, only one of whom survives, a sister, Mrs. John M. Ormond of Toledo, O., who arrived from California, just previous to his death.

On November 3, 1886, Mr. Jameson and Miss Jessie Allen were united in marriage at Hermitage, Mercer county, Pa. The latter survives. They had three children, Elizabeth Woodworth, now Mrs. Will D. McCreery, of this city, and David A. Jameson and Jessie Jameson, both of the latter being deceased.

The body will lie in state at the family residence 330 North Jefferson street, until the time of the funeral, where it may be viewed by all friends and citizens, who desire to pay their last respects to one of New Castle's greatest benefactors.

All friends and citizens are invited to attend the funeral service, and interment, which will immediately follow the service. The service will be held at 3 p. m. Tuesday, March 22, 1927 at the late residence 330 North Jefferson street and interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

EGYPTIAN MYSTERY

Six of the leaders of the tomb-hunters in Egypt have died since the tomb of Tutankhamen was discovered in the Valley of the Kings. Lord Carnarvon himself, backer of the scientific expedition, was the first victim. He died of a disease which the superstitious called mysterious. The English doctors said it was merely an unfortunate infection.

George J. Gould, Wolfe Joel and Sir Archibald Douglas Reid, all financially and otherwise interested in the job of taking the ancient pharaohs out of their graves, died successively. It was said that each of their maladies was mysterious. But in each case the doctors found a name for the fatal illness.

Later Professor Casanova, of the College of France, a noted Egyptologist, who had been active in the work of looting the tombs of the kings for the benefit of modern science, died suddenly and, some said, mysteriously. Then, within a few days, Dr. Georges Benedite, director of the Egyptian antiquities section of the Louvre Museum, died. He had been one of the foremost workers in the great undertaking that has been under way since Tutankhamen's long rest was disturbed by the professors and financiers of Europe and America.

A few more such deaths may halt the work of digging up dead Egyptians. Learned Egyptologists are scarce, and among those who remain alive, life is held to be very dear. There is a belief (call it superstition if you will) that the ancient Egyptians, who thought that undisturbed rest for the corpses of kings was most important, may have concentrated around the tombs of their rulers some sort of mysterious forces which strike with strange maladies those who venture to take these monarchs out of their resting places and place them on show for the multitudes to stare at.

As a matter of sober fact, it is probable that advanced age, overwork, excitement, and the terrible Egyptian climate are the chief forces depleting the ranks of the learned doctors of Egytology. But the threat of an ancient curse is still dreadful to men who love life, be they ever so learned.

Need Volunteers To Offer Blood

There is immediate need at the New Castle hospital of the services of some person who is willing to permit the transfusion of their blood for the benefit of a very sick woman at that institution.

It is urged that to meet this present need and also future similar needs that the appeal for volunteers for this purpose issued last week by the hospital will meet with immediate response.

If the present emergency is met there will be a reward of at least $25 for the person making the sacrifice for the sick person, who is in need of the blood. The person giving the blood may save a life and it is urged that some person step forward and make the sacrifice.

In connection with the appeal made for persons to come to the hospital and be listed for this type of helpfulness for the sick it should be known that the persons examined will be given a thorough blood test and copy of the same, free of charge. Persons interested in this work, and especially in helping the sick woman now in need of the blood, should get in touch with Peter Mancino, who is in charge of this type of work at the hospital.

the Anthracite industry as it is working under a five-year contract made in 1926. Anthracite is a domestic fuel and is not suitable for industrial use. American industry, the railroads, public utilities and manufacturing establishments, depend almost entirely upon bituminous coal. Of all the coal produced in America, 95 per cent is bituminous.

There will be 90,000,000 tons of soft coal above ground on April 1. This great reserve, plus the tonnage to be produced in the non-union and outlying fields, will care amply for the public's need for several months.

If the union's grip is broken in Pennsylvania, operators in other states will be emboldened to break with the union.

DAVID JAMESON

ALL NEW CASTLE today is mourning the death of David Jameson, long a leading factor in the development of the city and in the progress and welfare of its citizenry. Although his death did not come unexpectedly, being the result of a long period of illness, it has occasioned city wide grief as only the passing of one most dear to the community can.

New Castle realizes that in the death of Mr. Jameson there has been lost to the community one who was ever ready in an unselfish spirit to aid, and to take the lead in activity that was to be for the betterment of his fellowmen.

In all of his activities there was evident that spirit that betokened his wonderful interest in others, and his desire to be of aid to those less fortunate. While many of his benefactions were unknown to the people, his activity in the Crippled Children's Clinic, his gifts to the city, and almost the closing act of his life, his presentation of a magnificent hospital to the city for the benefit of all, were characteristic of his noble nature.

It is indeed a heavy loss that has been suffered by this city and its people in the death of Mr. Jameson. However, his deeds have been such that the passing from life of this noble citizen will not mark the end of his service to those of his home community that he so dearly loved.

For ever and a day in the future it will be said of Mr. Jameson with all honesty and sincerity, "His works live after him."

IN DEFENSE OF THE WILD FLOWERS

SPRING arrives (by the calendar) today, and the American Nature Association will mark the day by beginning its annual campaign in defense of the wild flowers. They need defending. People who ought to know better go into the country and pick them, sometimes tearing the plant up by the roots. And what pleasure do they really get out of this vandalism? For wild flowers fade quickly; few of them last until the picker gets home. Laws have been passed in some states to protect them; but such laws are difficult to enforce. The association believes, or hopes, that a moral appeal will be more effective. Let the flowers remain by the roadside so that all may enjoy them.

Some offenders, no doubt, will heed this request. But the disfigurement of nature is a widespread evil. The motor car has made many places accessible to the multitude that once were remote; and too many of those who ride in cars have no genuine love of natural beauty. If they had they would not wantonly destroy the wild flowers. Nor would they strew the landscape with waste paper or the remnants of luncheon. Some are not content with roadside devastation; they invade private property and attack the blossoming fruit trees. This is simply theft; punishable on discovery; but too often the owner does not see them; or, if he does, a car enables them to make a speedy getaway.

Every lover of nature must applaud the purpose of the American Nature Association. Its task is not quite hopeless. Public sentiment can be roused in such matters, though slowly. "For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, there a little."

Approaching in the offing is Dandelion Greens week.

Some find college work easy because they have wonderful brains, and some because they have wonderful biceps.

You never get the full meaning of efficiency until you observe a small boy placing himself around ice cream cones.

One of the best things to take to cure that important feeling is an honest inventory of the mental stock on hand.

The word obey was cut out of the wedding ceremony by which Senator Clarence Dill became the husband of Miss Rosalie Jones, suffragist leader. Inasmuch as Miss Jones, as she is to be known, is the manager of an estate valued at $5,000,000, the word obey wouldn't be a sticking point on the part of a prospective husband. She will likely have a very large say in her own affairs yet.

DAVID JAMESON

is dead. On Sunday, March 20, at noon, just at the stroke of twelve, he breathed his last breath. His great mind and his great heart ceased functioning at the same instant. He had not suffered and he was not afraid to die. He had lived his three score and ten and it was a life full of activity and constructive building. The last several months of his busy life were devoted almost entirely to planning for the happiness and relief of human beings. All his life he had given great consideration to the other fellow. His last thought was not of self, but of others. His life itself is a monument to him, but he is leaving many monuments for humanity to enjoy and emulate. New Castle has lost a great citizen and the writer has lost his best friend. No one will take his place soon, if ever. He belonged to the people of New Castle and he loved them. Those who knew him best loved him most. My tears mingle with the tears of the host of his admirers and friends. Peace to him.

There would be no unhappiness if we could cash in on the pre-election promises.

Thieves in Ohio stole the teeth and bones of the bodies that were being exhumed in a cemetery. This is absolute evidence that there are people who will steal anything.

We are glad New Castle put the Lew Scottish Rite Cathedral campaign over big. Achievements like that is what makes people want to come to New Castle to live and to start new industries. Failure to back up civic enterprises drive people away. New Castle can do any big thing if we just all get together and all help. It will not cost any one much if we all do OUR SHARE. The Illinois custom of repeated escapes from prison seems to be not without system. One convict remains permanently at large every time. Just a little less work for the pardon board.

Florida and California have nothing on New Castle at the present time on fine weather.

Jacksonville, Florida, is boasting that over the main bridge entering that city 150,000 automobiles passed during the month of January. Jacksonville, didn't say it, but we can surmise it, that the most of them were headed back north after a full stomach of cyclones and tidal waves.

The income tax payments for March of this year were larger than ever in history. Once again Mellon is proven right in his income tax plan. He promised more revenue at lower rates and he is getting it.

It is claimed now that President Coolidge has strained his wrist by the incessant hand shaking he is subject to. It is a wonder he doesn't need crutches after the leg pulling he has to undergo by those patriots who are willing to serve the country.

The principal thing in election reform in this state is to find a way to get the ballot boxes open after the votes are counted, and that is one thing that the political bosses don't want. Those ballot boxes contain a lot of crooked work and that is about the only reason the big mugs of the parties are opposed to opening them. Governor Pinchot tried to get some new election laws, and the laws proposed by Governor Fisher are very similar to those sponsored by his predecessor, but the gang that is opposing them is the same—the Philadelphia and Allegheny county rings. Because they oppose them we are for them and believe they are necessary.

Conditions are a little worse in China; there is room to continue getting worse in so big a country. More towns captured by savage, determined gentlemen from Canton. British marines clashing with natives, one Englishman robbed and beaten. The British won't stand too much of that.

Vesuvius is in eruption, many shocks like earthquakes, horrible flame pouring out.

Mussolini, powerful as Vesuvius and always in eruption, is planning new treaties in the Balkans, building strategic highways in Albania, after the fashion of Caesar. He keeps going.

Russia discusses the czar's debt with France and may pay something to help business. She might even pay our boy-bankers of Wall Street that bought Kerensky's bonds. It's worth paying forty millions to borrow five hundred millions.

Mr. Feather, "business philosopher," says salesmen are treated more courteously in big concerns than in small ones.

That is true. Concerns that once were small are now big because they were and are courteous. They are not courteous because they are big. Politeness costs nothing, but is worth money.

The big American Tobacco Co., knowing how to advertise as well as manufacture, gives stockholders cheerful news about "business and the outlook." Profits last year were $22,549,094, the best year thus far.

George Hill is to be congratulated on continuing his late father's work so ably.

Arnold Bennett names the twelve greatest novels, all Russian. "The Brothers Karamazov" he calls greatest of all. It depends on what you call "great." Among photographic studies of murder and drunken degeneracy, "The Brothers Karawazov" might win the championship. But "Les Miserables," "Oliver Twist," "David Copperfield," "Hypatia," "Westward Ho!" for the young, "Vanity Fair," and a long string of others are worth to a world that wants to go in the right direction more than all the Russian novels put together.

Everybody knows that drunkards are unpleasant, some women nervously and hysterically immoral, but what of it?

Too much handshaking has lamed the president's right arm. If red Indians rubbed noses until their noses were worn away, we'd laugh. Our meaningless handshaking means an exchange of germs and excessive familiarity.

In the old days men, meeting, extended the right hand to show they didn't mean to stab or club each other. That's unnecessary now. The president is democratic, and the dear public wants to be "familiar and intimate."

When his hand gets lame, the president might hang up a sign, "At this reception visitors are requested to slap the president on the back instead of shaking hands."

Harry W. Cowan, stone blind, partly deaf, lacking the senses of taste and smell, was saying goodbye to his daughter, for the electric chair, when Governor Smith of New York state commuted his sentence.

Two younger death-house companions, with their seven senses, were taken out and killed. The public will be glad of the blind man's commutation. Capital punishment seems at best only less cowardly than murder. Strength taking advantage of weakness.

The idea of strapping a blind men into an electric chair is peculiarly repulsive. There is no accounting for sentiment.

"Neither a borrower nor a lender be," but if you must be a borrower, cheer up. Moody's manual says bond prices are "hardening," which means lots of money looking for investment. Liberty bonds that pay 4 1-4 per cent will be exchanged for notes paying 3½.

It looks like a "3½ per cent money market soon." That will please innocent, misguided lambs and wise brokers, and will put up prices.

The learned President Hibben of Princeton University, says Secretary Mellon is unsound in his financitl views.

When President Harding selected Mellon for secretary of the treasury he told this writer: "Mr. Mellon is the second richest man in the world." If Secretary Mellon does not understand finance, he must have been singulary fortunate.

In Day's News

Probably the most important item on the agenda of the American International Law Institute conference which is to assemble today in Montevideo, Uruguay, will be the discussion of a draft code of private international law prepared by Dr. Antonio S. de Bustamente. Dr. de Bustamente is a Cuban who ranks among the greatest living authorities on international law. He occupies the chair of international law in the University of Havana, is a member of the European Institute of International Law, and has been president of the Cuban Society of International Law. He was a Cuban delegate to The Hague conference in 1907, a delegate to the peace conference at Versailles and a member of the court of arbitration at The Hague. He has served in the Cuban senate and is the author of numerous books on various phases of international law.

THE SECRET OF LONG LIFE

Dr. C. H. Mayo, of Rochester, one of the formost physicians of the United States, lectured recently on How to Grow Old Gracefully. He mentions five points:

Begin taking care of yourself when young;

Have health examinations once a year;

Avoid excessives;

Develop an avocation preferably along some line that brings you in contact with nature;

Live in communities protected by efficient public health laws.

He said that the principal danger to long life at present is our ability to gratify our desires too easily and our inability to readjust ourselves to new ways of living.

The secret of all life is adjustment. Not that animal that was the strongest lived the longest in former times, but the animal which most easily adjusted itself to the conditions around it.

Animal life has all sorts of ways of adjustment. In cold climates animals grow heavy fur. Some change their color to conform to their surroundings.

The secret of all longevity seems to be adjustment.

Proper sanitary conditions also have much to do with long life. Whereas in the middle ages a man lived on the average only twenty years now he lives to a much greater age.

Our gifted grandmothers were old at fifty. Now some of them at fifty are just stepping out.

Tomorrow—Young.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

A LOVE SCENE

He held her hand and sighed a sigh,
She turned her head away,
And you must know as well as I
What he was due to say.
A robin twittered in the tree
This old-familiar sight to see.

The south wind knew what he would say.
A white cloud drifting by,
A squirrel on the lawn at play,
A sea-gull from the sky
That scene had often looked upon
And knew just what was going on.

"Behold those lovers sitting there!"
Said someone in a car.
The tall policeman saw the pair
And thought: "How glad they are!"
I think the very bench of wood
This hour of rapture understood.

All nature and all human-kind
That chanced to pass that way
Knew what was on that young man's mind
And what he soon would say
But when he said it, I'm advised,
The maiden seemed to be surprised.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

A GREAT GIFT

I think very few Americans know what a great gift Elbert H. Gary, real head of the United States Steel Corporation, has given to American lawyers in general and to Chicago lawyers in particular. He has given, however, probably the greatest law library in existence, has established it at 31 West Lake street, Chicago. No other single library in the United States offers to members of the Bar and to students as much wealth of material. The library is open without charge to non-resident lawyers, and any person desiring legal advice upon foreign law may write to the Librarian, Elbert H. Gary Library of Law, 31 West Lake St., Chicago, stating his case, or his question of law, and the communication will be handed for reply to some local legal advisor, having the privilege of the library, and recommended as the local counsel, as skilled in the language concerned, and he will return an answer, charging such fee as may be agreed upon between himself and the correspondent.

The library consists of 11 separate collections, as follows:

Modern Anglo-American Law includes the modern law as contained in Statutes, Current Session Laws, Decisions, Digests, Treatises, Collections of Leading Cases and Journals of the United States and of England, of Ireland and of Canada; official copies of all the briefs and records filed in cases before the Supreme Court of the United States.

Modern Continental Law, now numbering some 12,000 volumes on the law of the twenty-three European countries, as contained in statutes, decisions journals and treatises, is more comprehensive in scope than any other collection in the United States. As a source of investigation for Continental Law, it provides facilities not available elsewhere. This collection is particularly valuable to lawyers having a foreign clientage. It is in constant use by counsel from every part of the United States.

International Law numbers nearly 3,000 volumes, and includes a large quantity of printed material relating to American, British, and to Continental Diplomacy.

Ancient, Oriental, Primitive and Medieval Law includes the Hindu, Mohammedan, Hebrew, Babylonian, Egyptian, Greek, Chinese, Japanese and sundry other systems as well as the medieval European materials. It numbers 14,000 volumes, and offers unique facilities for research to students of comparative legal history.

Roman and Civil law numbers 2,500 volumes, including the library of the late Moritz Voigt, of Leipzig, Germany, and contains many rare volumes not found in any other American library.

Ecclastical Law numbers 1,500 volumes, containing a selection of the most useful texts, commentaries and journals.

Jurisprudence and Philosophy of Law numbers 700 volumes, and includes all the important American, English, German, French, Italian and Latin texts on this subject.

POEMS-HOVE

BY CHARLES HANSON TOWNE

"O That 'Twere Possible," by Alfred Tennyson.

In all his love poems, Tennyson kept the fire and fervor of his youth—for artists never really grow old; and poets, in particular, no matter how time rushes on, have a way of retaining not only the semblance of youth, but the actual fondness and foolishness—yes, and the wisdom—of their early years. And just as Browning could look forward, mystically, in such a poem as "Rabbi Ben Ezra," and interpret the glories of old age, so Tennyson could always, as in narrative poems like "Maud" and "The Princess", look back, and make the April of life blossom again.

O that 'twere possible
After long grief and pain
To find the arms of my true love
Round me once again!

When I was wont to meet her
In the silent woody places
Of the land that gave me birth,
We stood tranced in long embraces
Mixed with kisses sweeter, sweeter
Than anything on earth.

A shadow flits before me,
Not thou, but like to thee.
Ah, Christ, that it were possible
For one short hour to see
The souls we loved, that they might tell us
What and where they be!

NOTHING LEFT

Little Ted, five years old, was ontinually losing his pencils in chool. Seldom an evening went by hat he didn't come home in tears ecause he had lost his pencils gain.

To put an end to it, his mother wrote Ted's name on them one morning. That evening he came home weeping as usual.

"What's wrong?" asked his mother.

"They're gone again," stammered Ted through his tears; "name and all."

The man who first said variety is the spice of life didn't know his philosophy would be applied to matrimony.

Senate Battles With Election Reform Measures

Seventy-Three Bills To Come Up For Final Passage In State Senate

VOTING MACHINE BILL MAY FALL

Senate So Far Has Not Defeated Any Bill; May Make Record Today

By WILLIAM B. BROWN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 21.—The senate tonight may set the vane which will indicate its course during the remainder of the session.

Heading the list of the 73 bills up for final action are the ten election bills reported from committee last week. Three of the ten are part of the Harris series but their passage will but little effect the fight Senator Harris of Allegheny, has waged for clean elections. Two of them would remove the necessity for a person, touchy about his or her age, from making it public property. The other is a joint resolution. Its passage can mean but little more for many years than a toothpick inserted in the bulwark of non mechanical machine made majorities.

Davis Bill May Fall

The Davis voting machine resolution which would make their use compulsory is expected to be the first bill killed in the senate during the session. Its failure will only help to further befog the cloud of doubt which surrounds the move for voting machines. It has been freely predicted that the measure has little chance of ever being enacted into a law.

Then follow in regular order the ten Homsher bills which will curb coalition movements and independent candadicies. The very reporting of a bill on the floor of the senate means usually that it is scheduled for passage.

Advocates of election reform have come out rather strongly against them. Independent Democrats, however, have obtained some measure of comfort from the situation. In addition to curbing Independent Republicans they also would make the way very difficult for nominal Democrats who regularly are selected with the aid of Republican machines.

The Leslie Branch Banking bill once more is scheduled for final action. It has been amended to meet the demands of the Philadelphia interests but its present form still retains features which they fear.

Another measure which has been fought inside and outside of committee is that of Senator Lamb, Venango, making stock brokers subject to inspection of the department of banking.

So far the senate has not defeated a single bill. It may make a new record tonight.

DINNER STORIES

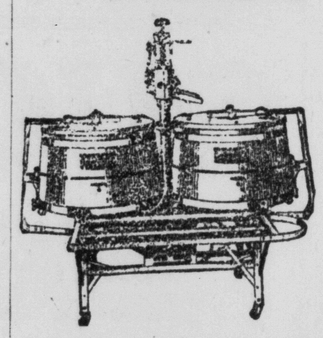

THE WHOLE SHOW.

A well known illusionists's assistant had to disappear from the stage, run around the corner from the stage door and make his appearance at the front of the house. One week the illusionist was appearing in a town where the theater was situated on a corner, but the entrance was several doors down the street. Between the entrance and the corner there was a small cinema theater which had a pretentious box office. The assistant started from the stage door, rounded the corner and seeing the box-office of the cinema mistook it for the entrance to his theater. He pushed the ticket collector aside, dashed down the aisle, fired a pistol and shouted, "Here I am." Then he discovered his mistake.

The new minister was calling on the Smiths. Alone for a minute with Bobby eight, he was getting some of the family history without whitewash or varnish. "And what is your father's religion?" asked the minister. "Well from what mother says every little while I guess he is a Seven Day Absentist."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

MENU HINT

Warmer weather and Lent. Two good reasons for going light on meat in our menus. Fish turbot is a good substitute and even people who do not care so much for fish will often eat a turbot, as the bones are carefully removed and the fish flaked.

Fish Turbot Mashed Potatoes
Scalloped Tomatoes
Spinach Salad
Prune Pudding Coffee

TODAY'S RECIPES

Fish Turbot — Flake cooked or canned fish. Make a white sauce in the proportion of one tablespoon butter and two of flour to every cup of milk. Arrange the fish and sauce in alternate layers in a buttered baking dish, put crumbs on top and bake for half an hour. Flavor with salt and pepper and a little onion, if liked.

Prune Pudding—Boil prunes until soft, remove pits and cut in two or three pieces. To one cup prunes add sugar and the well-beaten whites of three eggs, fold into the prunes and bake. Serve cold with whipped cream.

Scalloped Tomatoes — Arrange alternate layers of tomatoes and bread crumbs in a buttered baking dish, season with butter, pepper and salt and bake half an hour.

Spinach Salad — Arrange cooked or raw spinach on a bed of lettuce. Serve with your favorite salad dressing.

SUGGESTIONS

Cocoanut Pie

Fresh or prepared cocoanut may be used, but the fresh grated is better. Heat two cups of milk and when it boils, stir in one cup of grated cocoanut and cook ten minutes in a double boiler. Remove from the fire, add four tablespoons sugar, the yolks of two eggs, and one tablespoon fine cracker crumbs. Pour into a pie plate lined with crust and distribute over the top one teaspoon of butter in small bits. Bake about 30 minutes. While pie is in the oven, beat the whites of the eggs until stiff, adding two tablespoons of powdered sugar. After spreading meringue over pie, return it to the oven to brown. This pie should be served fresh and as cold as possible.

Count Salm Drops Action To Regain Son, Case Settled

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 21—The action brought by Count Ludwig Salm against the former Millicent Rogers was officially dropped today by the count's counsel.

Attorney James Donnelly, representing the count, filed a stipulation to discontinue the action without costs before Justice Aaron J. Levy in special terms court of the supreme court.

The stipulation is scheduled to be signed later in the day by Justice Levy.

Donnelly refused to discuss the case. It is understood, however, that Count Salm has accepted a lump sum of $300,000 to renounce all claim to their two-year-old son Peter.

Sinclair Counsel Files Motion For Another Hearing

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—Challenging the conviction of Harry F. Sinclair, lessee of Teapot Dome, on 20 points of error, attorneys for the wealthy oil man today filed a petition for new trial before Justice William Hitz in the district supreme court.

Sinclair was convicted last Thursday on four counts charging contempt of the senate after a jury in Justice Hitz's court had been out more than eight hours. The trial grew out of Sinclair's refusal in March, 1924, to answer certain questions of the senate oil investigating committee.

Rev. T. W. English delivered an able message at the special revival services in Croton Avenue M. E. church Sunday evening from the text "Thou Art Weighed In the Balance and Found Wanting."

Christians who have love in their hearts will love their neighbor as themselves, then is the time they can be weighed. They must be baptized by the Holy Spirit. God is going to judge us according to how we judge the other person, the pastor added. What is going to be your cry in eternity? Will it be "if I had only obeyed God's Laws?"

The revival meeting will be continued through this week. There will be a good song service every evening at 7:30. Preaching at 8 o'clock.

Mercer Is Nearing 125th Anniversary

Mercer County Seat Will Be 125 Years Old In 1928— Other Notes

(Special To The News)

MERCER, Pa., March 21.—On the date of August 22, 1928, the borough of Mercer may with propriety celebrate the 125th anniversary since the laying out of the town for on such date the county records show that the official survey took place of 200 of the 400 acres of land owned in this community by John Hogue, who halved his tract providing that the county seat be established here.

The county was provided for by legal enactment of the governor three years previous in 1800 and remained for the three years before the division of territory as a part of Crawford county.

There is a much mentioned opinion among townspeople here that this 125th anniversary of the town and 128th of the county should be fittingly celebrated and that the start of preparation now is none too soon. In connection with the old county record from which the above historical facts are obtained it is interesting to know that the book itself 125 years of age is in a wonderful state of preservation, the ink lustre still remains on the goose quiled pages of a quality of paper that is unusual. Many years accumulation of bonds and coupons retired by payment of the county treasurer are being catalogued by their time of issuance by the county auditors. The bonds and coupons are being pasted in large sized books bought especially for this purpose that they may be kept as records of the county.

As is no barrier to sport the early issuance of the year at the county treasurer's office would show.

Out of the first 200 fishing licenses issued were three to applicants who were over 80 years in age. One went to William Kennedy of Grove City aged 81; one to William Bailey, aged 82, of Sandy Lake, and the third to Jacob Fetteroff of New Hamburg, aged 87.

Dr. S. J. Dickey, makes announcement today of the schedule of towns in which immunization from diptheria of the school children will take place during the coming week.

On Tuesday, March 22nd a start will be made in Mercer at the public schools when the first treatment of the three that are given each child a week apart will be administered by doctors of the town and Dr. Dickey assisted by nurses from the Mercer Cottage hospital.

Wednesday, March 23rd, treatment of the school children of Stoneboro will take place with Dr. J. S. Ferringer of that city assisting Dr. Dickey.

Thursday it is planned to treat the children of Sandy Lake and Fredonia. It is announced today by the medical director that 1,500 will be affected by this immunization treatment which also includes the town of Greenville for which a date has not been set yet but will follow in order.

It is announced that the treatments are free for children from 6 months to 18 years of age. Only in cases however where the parents sign the slip authorizing the treatment will it be given.

While the program announced is for school children of the towns noted it is said by Dr. Dickey that any children of the community in which the treatment is given brought in on these dates will be treated. The most hearty support is being given the movement in each town. doctors and nurses volunteering their services.

Ingrown Nail

Turns Right Out Itself

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

Tiny Dog Routs Enraged Bull

LANCASTER, O., March 21.—Traffic was tied up for an hour on the Laurel Creek road while a tiny fox terrier fought a shorthorn bull weighing nearly a ton and won.

The bull became enraged when stoned by two boys, passing along the road, broke from the pasture field and charged the lads, who took refuge in a passing automobile.

The bull put this car and several others out of commission by puncturing tires and mashing wheels with his horns.

A half dozen motorists who attempted to drive the animal back into its enclosre were forced to seek safety in their cars.

Rex, the fox terrior, belonging to Charles Simons of Columbus, jumped from one of the wrecked cars and by nipping the heels of the bull finally caused the big fellow to retreat.

FARRELL, Pa., March 21.—John J. Nolan 48 proprietor of the first business in Farrell, former councilman and borough clerk and postmaster since 1921, died Sunday after a brief illness from a stroke last Friday.

In November that year he was named postmaster for four years. Upon the expiration of his term no successor was appointed and he continued to hold the office to the time of his death.

Get Complaints About Sewers

Complaints to the police and J. L. Moseley sewer inspector on Sunday from all parts of the city were numerous.

All the complaints were to the effect that the sanitary sewers were backing up water and flooding cellars. A considerable number of the complaints came from the Neshannock avenue district.

The wet weather conditions caused an overflow condition of the storm sewers it is said which in turn is said to have flooded the sanitary sewers causing the complaints.

Block First Move By Sapiro

Ford's Attorneys Prevent Placing Dearborn Independent Files In Evidence

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

FEDERAL BUILDING, DETROIT, March 21.—The first move by Aaron Sapiro, so-called "wheat king," to prove that Henry Ford's attacks on him were inspired by hatred for the Jewish race, were blocked today in the million dollar libel suit.

Attorneys for the auto king objected to placing in evidence the files of the Dearborn Independent. They declared the Ford publication co-defendant in the libel suit, would be jeopardized if the files were admitted to evidence.

A copy of every issue of the Dearborn Independent was subpoenaed by Sapiro to prove that Ford's attacks on him were due to the auto king's hatred for Jews. The issues subpoenaed included copies of all Ford attacks on the Jewish race.

William H. Gallagher, chief of Sapiro's counsel, declared he would prove that the attacks were due to "malice in the heart of Henry Ford". He urged the court to admit all the files as evidence.

Stewart Hanley of Ford's counsel, entered the objection when court convened this morning.

The jury was excluded while the point was argued.

"You might prove malice against one defendant, but a verdict would be rendered against both defendants," said Hanley.

"That would mean the interests of one defendant would be prejudiced by the malice of the other."

Hanley cited a number of Federal court decisions upholding his contention.

"The courts have held that the verdict in a libel case must be based upon the guilt of the defendant with the least guilt," Hanley added. "You cannot apportion the damages among the defendants and the verdict must be commensurate to the guilt of the defendant with the least guilt."

To prove malice against Ford, Hanley said, would prevent the Dearborn Independent getting a fair trial.

Gallagher followed Hanley.

Thank Offering Service Sunday, At Epworth M. E.

Sunday evening the annual thank offering program of the Women's Foreign Missionary society took the place of the regular service at Epworth M. E. church. Mrs. F. P. Andrews presided and prayer was offered by Mrs. J. P. Allen.

The leader who is president of the local society gave some interesting facts concerning the history of the society, the work it has accomplished, the missionaries that are in service and the membership.

A large chorus choir under the leadership of W. R. Short rendered "Paul, the Eagle of the Lord."

Rev. S. L. Maxwell gave a dramatic presentation of the outstanding events in the life of the great apostle, using a map to illustrate Paul's missionary journeys.

W. R. Short and Leonard Kisthart sang a duet "Watchmen, What of the Night," and were accompanied by Mrs. J. M. Pyle.

The thank offering taken by the lady ushers amounted to $80.

Council Proposes New Bond Issue

Will Be Used To Build New Sanitary Sewer In Part Of City

ROOF AND HIGH WATER CLOG SEWERS

As a result of many sewers in flat sections "backwatering" into cellars council today ordered Solicitor White to draft a resolution empowering the city to employ temporarily two men to discover how many houses in New Castle allow roof water to drain into sanitary sewers.

While councilmen do not ascribe the present situation to roof water, they do claim that it is a contributory cause and will try to eliminate this if such is possible.

The clogged sewers and "backwatering" is laid to the heavy rains of Saturday night, Sunday and last night and council received many complaints today.

Not long ago council employed Fuller & McClintock to conduct a thorough survey of sewer conditions here and to advise ways and means of putting the sanitary systeminto shap to carry off the water.

Genkinger Explains

Today Councilman Genkinger issued a statement, in which he said that the sewer system has been inadequate for many years and the cause for today's situation is roof water and high river water.

"We have been for a year working on the inadequate sewers of the city and have been seeking alleviating means. Recently council engaged Fuller & McClintock, engineers to make a thorough survey.

The trouble at the present time is caused by surface waters flowing into the sanitary sewer and the high waters of the river causes it to flow back.

"The disposal plant guage shows a flow of a million and a half gallons of water a day in normal period and in rain periods shows flow of between eight and nine million gallons a day.

"We are fully aware of the inadequacy of the present main sewers and as soon as the survey is finished it will be brought before the citizens to vote upon a bond issue to remedy the situation."

The main sewer, according to Genkinger, must be extended north from Mahoning avenue to a point in South street along the Neshannock river.

At the present time the flow from East Side sanitary sewers instead of being carried to the disposal plant is being emptied into the river at Gardner avenue in the hope of helping conditions.

Merchant Sent Necktie Package

Clerks In Clothing Store Also Sent Package By "Blind" Salesman

MANY WORKING NEW SALE SCHEME

"Blind" necktie salesmen appear to have come to the conclusion that New Castle is a very profitable field to dispose of their wares, for the probable reason that the people of this city are most liberal, especially when it comes to helping the afflicted.

Hundreds of people in the past few weeks have received through the mail a package containing three supposed silk ties, which "Blind Brodie" of Philadelphia has seen fit to send them and for which he asks a dollar.

It is evident that Brodie in his desire for business did not take time to edit his list of "victims" for there is at least one store in the city selling gentlemen's furnishings, where the proprietors and clerks have all received the neckties. Needless to say, they have not made any purchases.

But the unusual feature of the case, according to the Better Business Bureaus of the country and also the postal authorities, is the fact that it is a business that has developed in every section of the country and by persons, who are in no way afflicted but use the afflictions of others as means of promoting their business.

And then it is taking business away from legitimate merchants of this and other cities, who do not stoop to the method of bringing money into their coffers through the afflictions of others, but depend on their merchandise to bring them business.

Another interesting fact is that the ties received oftentimes can be purchased in any city of the country for much less than is asked for them and often as cheap as ten cents in the five and ten cent stores, it is declared.

TRA, LA, LA! SPRING IS HERE!

LOVE'S EMBLEMS
By John Fletcher

Now the lusty Spring is seen;
Golden yellow, gaudy blue,
Daintily invite the view:
Everywhere on every green
Roses blushing as they blow,
And enticing men to pull,
Lilies whiter than the snow,
Woodbines of sweet honey full:
All love's emblems, and all cry,
"Ladies, if not plucked, we die."

Yet the lusty Spring hath stayed;
Blushing red and purest white
Daintily to love invite
Every woman, every maid:
Cherries kissing as they grow,
And inviting men to taste,
Apples even ripe below,
Winding gently to the waist
All love's emblems, and all cry,
"Ladies, if not plucked, we die."

Reports Persist Pennington Will Be Commissioner

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Mar. 21. — With the appointment of a new prohibition commissioner in accordance with the recent act of congress expected this week, reports that John D. Pennington will be named became more audible here today.

The belief that the identity of the new prohibition commissioner will be known within forty-eight hours prevailed at dry headquarters.

Wayne B. Wheeler, counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, has marshalled every force at his command for a final drive for the appointment of Roy A. Haynes to the post, it was learned.

Haynes, long a favorite of the Anti-Saloon League, has been identified with prohibition enforcement for many years. It is understood here that the choice will be made between Pennington and Haynes, no other outstanding national figure having been advanced for the post.

Hint to Russia: You can't start a revolution in a land where the "proletariat" worries about the price of gasoline.

After all, it's a rather peaceful world. Soldiers, in the long run, cause less worry than bill collectors.

In respect to the memory of its President, DAVID JAMESON, The Citizens National Bank will close for the day at one o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

Depositors unable to be in by that time, will be taken care of at window No. 4 of the Union Trust Company on Mercer street.

Tarzan, Monkey Actor, Burns Self To Death

Sets Fire To Straw In His Cage And Dies Without Sound

BERLIN, Mar. 21. — Tarzan wonder chimpanzee, who has appeared on vaudeville stages throughout the world, died of burns after setting the straw in his cage afire. He gave his act as usual but seemed in a bad mood.

He hung his evening cape and top hat on their accustomed peg and sat down to his nightly meal in the setting of an elegant restaurant, but appeared displeased.

Observers of the vaudeville star testified that he seemed despondent lately. His colleagues in the act are convinced that Tarzan committed suicide.

They believe he was weary of drifting between the world of man and beast, of laying off his patent leather slippers and leaving the stage to sleep on straw in a monkey cage.

Tarzan, they think, was the victim of suppressed desires.

Whether it was a longing to return to the jungle or to go from the stage into the audience, is not clear, since Tarzan left no farewell letter.

Upon returning to his cage, he lighted the straw as a few minutes before he lighted a cigaret before his audience, and perished without uttering a cry.

Tired Stomachs Come To Life

And Digest Heavy Meals Just Like a Boy

Diapepsin is probably the most powerful aid there is when the stomach seems worn out. It enables you to get away with foods that so often cause the utmost misery. Pie, cheese, cream, sausage, seasoned stews and foods that frighten a dyspeptic even to think of, are as modified milk to a cooing infant when followed by Diapepsin.

A host of people are denying themselves half the pleasure of life hunting for patent, prepared foods that don't meet their needs. For after all it is the state of the stomach secretions that counts. Diapepsin adds to the secretions and actually works on the starches, meats, eggs, cream, etc., and that is what a tired, feeble stomach needs.

Get a 60 cent package of Pape's Diapepsin at any drug store.

State College Gives Advice In The Fight Against Corn Borer

Lawrence county is entering into an extensive campaign to stop the ravages of the European corn borer. Individual farmers will have opportunities to deal death-blows to this hungry insect pest.

A number of practical points are suggested by Pennsylvania State College extension entomologists for repelling the invader. Corn stalks should be kept out of the barnyard and pasture, and they should not be permitted in manure. All shredded stalks should be plowed under deeply. Unused stover is either shredded or burned.

These are all spring practices and should be done by May 1. The disk harrow is recommended instead of the spring-tooth harrow because the latter pulls stalks to the surface, allowing the borers to emerge and lay eggs in new corn.

Harvesting operations to be used in the Fall include low cutting of corn and shredding the stover or ensiling most of the corn. Cutting the stalks low removes the chief harboring places of the borers.

Sees Life Period Made 125 Years

PARIS, Mar. 21.—A life span of one hundred and twenty-five years, and old age of a few months instead of many years, are among the future possibilities discussed by Dr. Serge Voronoff, the eminent specialist in gland operations, before an assemblage of foreign newspaper correspondents.

"It had been established," said Voronoff, "that some men had lived 125 years. Therefore," he added, "I and others have the right to live that long."

After you get well, sickness seldom seems worth as much as the doctor charges for it.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

TELLS OF GOLD RUSH

Monrovia, Calif., March 14, 1927.
Mr. Fred L. Rentz,
New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:—I have read all your very interesting letters from Florida, including your trip to Cuba, as published in the "News" which we receive every day. We left New Castle in September and came to Los Angeles via Salt Lake City. We spent four months in Los Angeles and had some pleasant visits with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Clark, Mr. and Mrs. James Abbott, Mr. McGoun, Mr. Myland and other New Castle people.

For several weeks we had the idea that we would like to spend some time near to the mountains and groves. After a lot of looking around we found what we wanted, a real California bungalow, nicely furnished, in Monrovia, a town of several thousand people, ten miles east of Pasadena and on the road to San Bernardino. This town lies at the foot of the Sierra Madre mountains. We can easily see the U. S. Observatory on Mt. Wilson—three miles from here. It is 6 thousand feet high—"Old Baldy" is 10 thousand feet high and covered with snow. Mt. Whitney is 14 thousand 5 hundred feet high and has snow all the year. The mountains are to the north and to the east, west and south are miles of groves.

The grape fruit, orange and lemon trees are filled with ripe fruit. The Valencie (summer) orange trees are in full bloom. The navels are now ripe. A short ride from here will take us deep into the mountain canyons or out among the ranches and groves.

Traveling by train, by automobile, by stage and boat we have seen much of this part of the country. We went over to Catalina Island Christmas day. There is great excitement over the recent discovery of gold at Weepah, 35 miles south west of Tonopah, Nev. More people in Tonopah last Sunday than that town has seen in one day for many years—not since the rush of 1905. Food is scarce and prices high. The Los Angeles Biltmore hotel will have to advance their rates to keep above Tonopah prices.

The mining camp is located in a dreary, desolate desert section. Reports state the mineral will run about $80,000 to the ton. Hundreds of people are coming in there every day and by all modes of travel. Some of the "automobiles" look as if they were the first and original designs. Some come on horses or mules and then there is the inevitable miners burro. The camp is about 200 miles east of Los Angeles—six hours drive.

We will be in Monrovia until about April 15th, and then go to San Francisco. After three months in the northern part of California we will go to Portland and Seattle, making the trip by boat from San Francisco.

Respectfully,
EUGENE R. CLARK.

PUT UP DANGER SIGNALS

Russell Cage reported to the police Saturday evening that the stonewall in front of the second house on Mercer street just below Lincoln avenue, was in a dangerous condition as a result of threatening to fall out over the sidewalk. Officer Criswell was detailed and placed two red lights on the wall, as a warning to pedestrians in that district.

NATURE STUDY CLASS

Pupils in the nature study classes are again bringing in interesting specimens of plant and insect life found in the woods and fields—a fact that is even more surely prophetic of spring than are marbles, jacks and jumping-ropes.

FUND IS RAISED

The sale of home-made candy held last week by the Squad Leaders' club was a decided success. Either candy or material for making candy was contributed by each member of the club, and thus enough wholesome sweets were prepared to supply the demand. The club plans to use the proceeds in ways that will be of benefit to the physical education department.

REPORTS ISSUED

The appearance of a sheaf of report cards in each teacher's hands recently caused the unusual period of suppressed excitement, followed by various reactions when the cards reached the hands of the pupils. Parents, of course you share the delight of your child when he takes home a good report. If it is otherwise than good he can tell you why, if he will. Insist upon knowing the real reason for your child's failure to make a record that meets your expectations.

Requirements For Legion Paris Trip Are Announced

Several inquiries have been made by ex-service men concerning the requirements necessary to participate in the American Legion trip to Paris this summer, says Harry M. Long, commander of the Perry Gaston post of the American Legion.

Mr. Long says that all American Legion men of good and regular standing for the years 1926 and 1927 are the only ones that are entitled to the advantages of the trip. Those who fill the requirements will receive half-fare on the railroads on both sides of the ocean as well as the reduced fair on the steamship.

The local post has made arrangements whereby new members who have just joined the legion and paid their dues for the year 1927 amounting to $4.25 can be placed in good standing for the year 1926 by paying the state and national dues amounting to $1.50.

Application papers for the trip can be obtained from Mr. Goldman of the Lawrence Savings & Trust company or from John Kennedy of the Peoples Savings & Trust company. Then to make certain that the applications go through all right they should be verified and signed by the post commander, Harry M. Long, whose office is located in the Johnston building.

Pennsy Express Train Derailed, Three Injured

Lives Of Several Hundred Sleepers Endangered; Locomotive Turns Over

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., Mar. 21.—Lives of several hundred sleeping passengers on the Iron City express of the Pennsylvania railroad were endangered when the locomotive of the train picked a switch as it neared the station here early today and crashed into three coaches on a siding. Three men were slightly injured.

The locomotive turned over on its side and five cars on the train were derailed. High voltage wires were torn from an abutment of a bridge under which the crash occurred. The wires set fire to the private car of General Superintendent H. H. Garrigues, of the Eastern Pennsylvania Division of the railroad, which was on the siding.

The flames were extinguished without great loss.

Those injured were W. B. Dunlevy, of Harrisburg, baggageman on the train; Fred Raver, colored, of Steelton and David Rubinoff, a violinist, who was a passenger on the train. Raver, the most seriously injured, suffered from the fracture of several ribs and contusions of the arms.

C. W. Hawman, engineer, and J. F. Gillum, fireman of the express escaped injury.

Congress' Failure To Pass Measure Hits U. S. Courts

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 21. — Congress' failure to pass the efficiency appropriations bill was brought forcibly to the attention of Western Pennsylvanians today, resulting in much confusion at the U. S. district attorney's office.

Lack of operating funds caused general retrenchment at virtually all federal offices. The March term of federal court, scheduled to open in Erie today, has been called off. However, Judges F. P. Shoonmaker and W. H. S. Thomson will hear equity cases in Erie involving no expense to the government.

Many plaintiffs, defendants and jurors were notified by wire and by mail of the postponement of all criminal and civil cases until the May term of court here, but Joseph Irons, deputy marshal, went to Erie to notify others who appear for court.

Postponement of the Erie docket heaped extra work upon the district attorney who is responsible for arranging continuances. Further confusion will result if the May term of court is postponed also, as is reported in some quarters.

Minstrel Show To Be Repeated

Announcement to this effect was made by V. J. Bullano today. Mr. Bullano has charge of the program and promises the patrons something fine in the way of entertainment.

To make money may still have a wealth of good humor.
To win an election may be the fortunate one after all.
To get an education will always work under a handicap.
To train his son will come in sorrow to his grave.
To use today wisely need expect little from tomorrow.
To be courteous must always be looking for new customers.
To smile at defeat makes it doubly hard.

Smile Prettily

Show teeth like jewels, gums like coral, this way

THERE is now a way to quickly lighten and polish cloudy teeth; a way world's dental authorities advise. Your teeth are not naturally off color . . . simply clouded by a film coat. Run your tongue across your teeth and you'll feel that film . . . a slippery sort of coating.

It absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. Germs breed in it and invite tooth decay, pyorrhea and gum troubles. Ordinary dentifrices don't fight film successfully.

Remove it and you'll be amazed at the whiteness of your teeth. Your smile will be charming, your teeth like polished ivory, your gums firmed and of charming coral color.

Today get the film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent. Send the coupon for a 10-day supply free. Or . . . purchase full size for a few cents at your druggist's.

WIFE'S HYSTERICAL STORY ONLY CLUE

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 21.—With little more to work on than an hysterical recital by Mrs. Ruth Snyder of the events leading to her husband's murder, in which she told of being knocked down, bound and gagged by "a tall man with a black moustache, who speaks broken English," police today were attempting to unravel the mystery of the murder of Albert Snyder, art editor of the magazine Motor Boating.

Snyder was found yesterday morning on his bed in his home, in Queens, his throat tightly bound with a noose of picture wire, his hands bound behind his back with the same material. Death, the medical examiner reported, had been due to blows on the head by some blunt instrument, although the wire would have caused death if the blows had not.

Mrs. Snyder, questioned for hours by the police, said that she, her husband and their nine-year-old daughter, Lorraine, had returned to their home at two o'clock in the morning from a bridge party at the home of friends. Her husband had gone to sleep at once, she said.

She said that while she was preparing to retire she heard a noise in the hall, and going to investigate, she was seized by a tall man whose face she could not see. She fainted. When she regained consciousness at about 7:30 o'clock she found herself bound hand and foot, and gagged. She managed to arouse her daughter, who discovered Snyder's body on the bed.

Mrs. Snyder said she thought she had heard the voice of a second man, but had not seen him.

Police were mystified as to the motive for the murder. It was not certain that anything had been stolen from the house which weakened the robbery theory. Police hinted that there was a possibility that a romance might have been the basis for the crime.

Snyder was 45 and Mrs. Snyder is 31.

No More Loot Is Found On Farm

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, March 21.—With hope apparently abandoned that the remaining $66,700 unfound in the Coverdale mines $104,000 bombing and holdup would be located on the farm of Joseph Weckoski, suspect, near Charleroi, Pa., detectives working on the case today again turned their attention to Detroit in the belief the larger part of the loot may have been taken there.

Detroit police continued their search for four men believed to have been implicated with Paul Jaworski in the payroll car bombing. Through Jaworski $33,000 of the loot was found on the Weckoski farm, and police were given details of the robbery, a part in which Jaworski confessed.

Joseph Dac, Pittsburgh butcher and third man held in the case, was to be questioned again today with Weckoski and Jaworski.

Many Lawrence County Farmers Pasture Woods

Plans are under way in the state to make a study of farm lands to determine whether they are more economical for use as woodlands or pasture. Lawrence county stands third among the counties in the state in the percentage of woodlands that are pastured. Lawrence county farmers to the percentage of 781 pasture their woodlands.

In some woodlands the grass is not only very sparse but there is little nourishment in it on account of the shady conditions so that the cattle are just wasting their time in wandering about, while in others a little clearing would make very good pasturage for the herds.

Also some thickly wooded lots not only have very little pasture but the cattle destroy many young trees that will grow into timber in later years and also preserve the moisture in the watersheds.

IT DIDN'T MEAN MUCH.

A negro minister given to the use of big words was waited upon by the church committee and told all that could be desired. "Don't I argify an' sputify?" inquired the minister. "Yes, yo' argify and sputify" responded a member of the committee, "but yo' don't show wherein."

After the "Flu" is over —you need a Tonic

Help Is Needed To Restore Your Wasted Strength And Energy.

"Flu" leaves the body weakened and run down. In such cases a tonic is clearly indicated. Restore the appetite and rid yourself of that let-down feeling.

"Flu" is a very enervating disease. It leaves its victims so weak and debilitated that there is as much danger from the after-effects as from the diease itself. In other words, after an attack of the "flu" you need a selective tonic to rebuild the system so that you may have your old-time strength and energy restored.

S.S.S. is unequalled for restoring strength and vitality.

You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the body is nourished. It is time-tried and reliable. S.S.S. is made from the roots of fresh herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Mr. McCloud Powers

War Hero Suffered Tortures Since Being Gassed In France

Suffered Intensely With Stomach Trouble, Backaches, Dizzy Spells, Headaches and Other Ailments. Feels as Good as Ever Since Taking Dreco.

S. P. Thorp the Dreco man, will gladly explain the merits of Dreco to all callers at Eckerd's Cut Rate Store. Free samples given.

While talking with the Dreco man, Mr. McCloud Powers of Bradenville, Pa., relates how Dreco had ended his suffering caused by being gassed in France. He says:

"I have never been well since a gas bomb from a German airoplane got me. I have been suffering with my stomach continuously ever since. I couldn't even eat a slice of bread without being in great distress afterward with indigestion and my bowels were so sluggish I was forced to take laxatives all the time. I also suffered with terrible pains across my back which were so bad at times I could hardly stand them. Often had attacks of dizziness when everything would get black and I have to hold on to something for support. My head ached all the time. I slept poorly had little appetite and always felt tired and sluggish.

"But this treatment of Dreco has surely made a new man out of me and now I feel as well as I did the day I landed in France. Every trace of my old complaints have disappeared and I eat, sleep and enjoy life as I did in the days before being gassed. There are thousands of other sufferers who would take Dreco if they only knew how good it was and I, for one, am glad to tell them."

Dreco is made of the juices and extracts of many herbal plants which act on the kidneys, bladder, stomach and blood and correct many troubles such as gas on the stomach, constipation, weakness, poor appetite, nervousness, headaches, biliousness, catarrh, rheumatism and such blood disorders as eczema, pimples, blotches, boiles and other eruptions. The first bottle usually shows splendid results.

Mr. S. P. Thorp, the well-known Expert from the Dreco Laboratories now at Eckerd's Cut Rate Store, is telling scores of people every day how to take Dreco for best results. Go to see him. His advice is free.

Chinese "Healers" Bother California Medical Examiners

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, March 21.—Chinese herb healers may be respected citizens in the Orient, but the California board of medical examiners is watching their work with critical eyes. The healers, who modestly claim to cure every human ailment from dandruff to diabetes, use rare and aromatic ungents and lotions.

Investigators for the state board have found that the Chinese herb "doctors" are in most cases practicing medicine without a license.

A court decision has held that the herb-sellers can function as merchants, selling their goods upon specific demand. They cannot, however, make a physical examination of their patient nor ask him questions. If they so much as touch his pulse they have assumed the office of physician.

There are a score or more of these "healing joints" in San Francisco and Oakland and more than 200 in the state. The healers are in many cases wealthy, as sick persons, hunting a cure, are willing to try something new.

Virtually every disease in the catalogue is said to be curable by the administration, internally or otherwise, of Chinese herbs. Raiders once found a bottle of dead beetles in one herb shop. The proprietor said they were valuable as a cure for baldness.

Disarmament Conference To Start Session

(International News Service)
GENEVA, March 21.—Balkan war clouds overshadowed the opening session of the preparatory disarmament conference, which opens this afternoon.

There was general excitement as reports were received of the threatening trouble between Italy and Jugo-Slavia over alleged war-like preparations by Jugo Slavia.

There were no indications that the League council would be called in special session to deal with the matter. M. Yavanovitch, Jugo-Slavian minister at Berne, denied that Jugo-Slavia would ask a League council session but declared, "We are perfectly willing to have an International Commission of Inquiry investigate and they will find that Jugo-Slavia is making no preparations for war or invasion of Albania.

Third Chapter In Controversy

State Highway And Motor Federation Controversy Being Continued

(International News Service)
PITTSBURGH, Mar. 21. — A third chapter in the controversy between Secretary James L. Stuart of the State Highway Department and Richard G. Haldeman, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation today stood written into the records in a letter made public by Stuart at his home here.

In the letter addressed to Haldeman, the highway secretary charges that the president of the motor federation is "playing politics" in his controversy with the highway department, and says that Haldeman's attacks are detrimental to the welfare of better highway plans.

Stuart scored Haldeman in the letter for the latter's methods of "prolonging the controversy," and said that although Governor Fisher has expressed confidence in the motor federation, the latter's tactics in striking against Stuart have been veiled moves against the administration.

Marriage Brokers Prosper In France

PARIS, March 21. — Marriage brokerage — the arrangement of marriages for a financial consideration—is a legitimate business in France. The courts have so held in sustaining the demand of a broker for 3,000 francs due him under contract from a client.

In the course of the hearing it was brought out that many marriage brokers are operating at present in France. The broker not only undertakes to bring the prospective bride and groom together, but he looks out for all financial details such as investigating the amount of "dot" the bride will bring to her husband.

Flood Threatens In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 21.—The first day of spring today brought with it a flood menace in the Pittsburgh district as the rising waters of the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers flowing to form the Ohio here came within a few feet of flood stage at the point.

Steady rainfall for the past few days augmented by the torrents flowing into the three rivers from watersheds along the entire lengths of the Monongahela and Allegheny caused a steady rise of .1 of a foot an hour, rapidly bringing the raging waters near the danger point. The weatherman held out little hope of cesation of the intermittent rains promising more showers and a drop in temperature today.

"My Friends and I Were Scared"

Effective Way Found to Break Up This Long-Standing Cold

"Last fall I caught a heavy cold that settled on my lungs. No medicine I used seemed to help it any. I began to lose weight, and I coughed a great deal. My friends and I were scared.

"One old neighbor brought me over a half a bottle of World's Tonic. She said I needed strength to throw off the cold, and she called World's Tonic "bottled energy." More to please her than anything else, I took it as directed. That half bottle helped me wonderfully, and the next bottle cleared up the cough. After three bottle I began to gain weight, and all symptoms of the cold disappeared. I never knew a medicine so effective."

MRS. GITTIE HETCHIN,
Beaver Falls, Pa.

Sensible in All Illnesses

World's Tonic is not a specific for colds, but it broke up that cold by the same thing it does for any illness. It cleared away the impurities in the blood, enabled this blood to kill off the germs, and supplied just what the system needed to gain strength. Because it is so effective in chronic catarrh, in this case it was equally effective in acute catarrh.

An illness hangs on because of weakness. Correct that weakness with World's Tonic, and your strength will help greatly to overcome the trouble. World's Tonic is sold by McKee's, Eckerd's, Paisley's, Smith's, and other good druggists. (222)

PETERS ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

By Florence Smith Vincent

FOUR OF A KIND

Petares stared, first at the dark ridges above the water, then at Old Hippo.

"I see them of course, now that you've pointed them out. But what of it? What have they to do or not to do with your being lonely? Why, what are they, Hippo? Look, Hound of mine, did you notice that? One of those ridges moved. I'm sure it did! Can it be something alive?"

No answer, and Petares turned to the Lean Dog. When before had his faithful hound failed him? And the second he saw his Hound, Petares knew what it was had made him keep silence. Surprise, surprise pure and simple. To tell the truth, the Lean Dog had his mouth wide open all ready to speak, but the bark wouldn't come. There he stood, four feet spread apart, eyes fixed up on something behind his master. Petares whirled!

To the side of Old Hippo and back of himself stood a stranger. And the stranger's face was framed by the green rushes through which he'd poked his head. And the face was homely and so like Hippo's own that in spite of his amazement Petares giggled.

"Hee, hee! I should think you were he if I didn't know it was you!"

Now this was a speech that was enough to mix up any one. But it didn't. Old Hippo smiled a Hippopotamy smile and the stranger chuckled.

"'Tis not strange that you should, boy. I'm his very own brother!" Then, suddenly, the Lean Dog found his voice.

"But where on earth did you come from?" yelped he. "You have not been around here long?"

The stranger's smile was now as broad as Old Hippo's own.

"Oh, yes I have, all the time. And I heard every word you three said. I was lying in the rushes. Next you'll be telling me you didn't know that our younger brother and our twin cousin were in the pool, too!"

"Well, they weren't! What do you mean?" demanded Petares and his Hound in chorus. Then stopped, breathless. The black ridges had grown larger, become ugly faces, risen out of the water as just Hippopotamus himself had done, only the boy and the dog had not seen him. In the pool were now four monsters, all of a kind.

NEW CASTLE TO PLAY CORAOPOLIS TONIGHT

Game To Determine Schoolboy Title Of Western Pennsylvania

New Castle High Prepares To Enter First Basketball Championship Game In History Of School; Neither Team Favored To Win; Coraopolis High Has Impressive Record In Tourney Games; Winner Of Game Tonight To Enter State College Tourney; Pitt Stadium Will Be Jammed For Schoolboy Tilt Is Indication; New Castle High Band of 62 Pieces Accompanies Team; Special Train Departs At Six O'clock Tonight; Locals Conclude Training Saturday

By "BUGS WALTHER

New Castle High's "steam roller" team, having gone through one of the most successful basketball seasons on record at the local institution, will battle Coraopolis High tonight in the University of Pittsburgh gym for the schoolboy basketball championship of western Pennsylvania. The game is scheduled to start at eight o'clock.

Both teams are on edge for the most important high school game of the year in this part of the state. Both teams have gone through plenty of grief in reaching the pinnacle on which they now stand. New Castle High disposed of Duquesne and Scottdale for the right to play in the title game. Coraopolis defeated Braddock and Edgewood in their climb up the ladder.

For the first time in the history of the W. P. I. A. L. tourney two teams will battle for the championship with neither team favored with even the slightest edge. From the standpoint of quality both teams rank with the best in this section. Man for man the two teams stack up on even ground.

The victorious team tonight will enter the Penn State College basketball tourney for the school championship of Pennsylvania.

Locals In Condition

The game tonight will find the New Castle team in fine condition. It is true that Paul Reider for the past several days has suffered a severe cold, and that Tony Ostrosky has complained of a strained muscle in his right side, but the boys have rounded into shape and it is a foregone conclusion that when New Castle High trots out on the court tonight to face the Coraopolis team they will be fit as anything.

Basketball has been a major sport at New Castle High for about 15 years now. Never before in the history of the school has a floor team gained the right to play for the W. P. I. A. L. title. True, other Red and Black teams have advanced to within hailing distance of the title. Last year, for instance, New Castle captured the sectional championship, only to be nosed out by Duquesne High in the first round of the elimination tourney. Other New Castle teams have been good, and some mighty good, at that, but there is not much question about the boys this season.

Opponents Are Strong

In Coraopolis High the New Castle team will meet a group of tossers ranked as the best that ever represented the Ohio river city. The fans in Coraopolis are worked up over the game tonight to such an extent that the place will likely be rather well deserted about game time. The "Corry" boys captured the championship of Section X only after a terrific struggle against Knoxville and Dormont. At the end of the season it was found that a triple tie existed for the sectional title. Coraopolis, with super-human effort, succeeded in wiping aside all opposition for the right to enter the Pitt tourney, Coach Bikle's cohorts were not given much consideration when it came time for them to play Braddock High in the second round, but they surprised everybody, including themselves, by coming through with an 18 to 13 victory, and then just to show the boys that it wasn't a "fluke" defeated Edgewood the other night.

New Castle High, with their fine team and great defense, will find the Coraopolis team with an equally strong system of defense and also several stars capable of recognition.

If the New Castle team is to continue their stride they must be on their toes tonight.

Smart Basketball

The team that wins tonight's game must play smart basketball. On paper the New Castle team looks a little stronger, but this paperweight business is not so good. Breaks may play an important factor in deciding the outcome.

The defense of both teams varies but little. The Coraopolis team will have a distinct advantage in height, but they lack the speed of the Red and Black team. New Castle will have to keep going at top speed to offset the advantages held by the "Cory" boys.

Special Leaves at Six O'clock

The "special train" to Pittsburgh will leave New Castle tonight over the Pennsylvania Lines at six o'clock sharp. The train will more than likely carry 10 coaches for the convenience of the fans.

The New Castle High school band with a 62-piece uniform gang will accompany the "special" and will occupy one entire coach. Two coaches of the train will be devoted to high school students alone. The townspeople will make up the remainder of the throng, with about six coaches for their benefit.

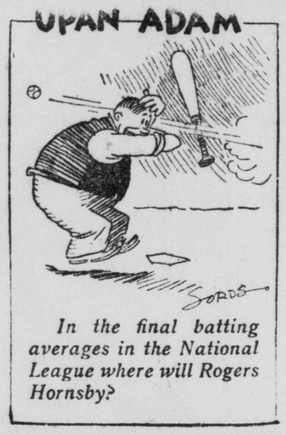

The train returning from Pittsburgh about 10 o'clock will likely arrive in New Castle shortly after 11 o'clock.

Indications today point to a rather quiet evening in New Castle, with plenty of excitement in Pittsburgh, especially at the Pitt stadium. It is believed that at least 3,000 people will witness the schoolboy classic tonight.

Following are the probable lineups for tonight's game:

New Castle		Coraopolis
Reider	F	Thompson
Franklin	F	Young
McGrath	C	Anderson
Sillman	G	Vincent
Ostrosky	G	Colegrove

Fine Pitching Staff May Pull Brooklyn Out Of Second Division

(EDITOR'S NOTE:—This is the ninth of a series of stories by Davis J. Walsh on major league ball clubs in training).

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 21.—If Edward Payson Weston had had feet but no less, he might have been able to walk across the continent provided he started with Lincoln's administration and forgot to stop. In other words, the worthy Mr. Weston would be going nowhere with great haste and so is the Brooklyn club.

It has the feet of a ball club in its pitchers but W. Rotund Robinson neglected to provide the other and wholly necessary portions of its anatomy and, in consequence, the thing can slide but can't climb. Fortunately, the Phillies can slide faster, further and funnier, so the Dodgers probably will escape the ignominy of the cellar.

Robinson always has had pitchers but, otherwise, there hasn't been a real good ball player developed by the Brooklyn club in ten years.

Elliott Wins Berth.

Dazzy Vance, of course, heads the array of pitchers. Then there are Jess Barnes, ex-Giant and ex-Brave, Bill Doak, the salivary gland back again after a year with the sub divisions, Bob McGraw, Doug McWeeny, Jess Petty and Rube Ehrhardt. All were regulars last year and, with one or two additions will constitute the varsity staff. However, Big Jim Elliott, who won 27 and lost 20 with Seattle past year, is a certain regular. He seems to be one of those rarities, a left hander who has both control and the ability to stand up under work. It is not difficult to see how Elliott pitched 45 complete games in the Coast League, for his delivery is as effortless as the glide of a swan. Elliott simply can't miss.

Still, Mr. Robinson was taking no chances, so he brought Roy Gordinier and Clarence Griffin for another trial, recalled Guy Cantrell from Jersey City, contrived to have the curse taken off the suspension of Norman Plitt for playing outlaw baseball and also signed Clark Wilson and Ed Strelecki.

The team in brief, is topheavy with pitchers and, in fact, battery candidates in general.

It had three fair catchers last year in Charles Hargreaves, George O'Neill and Hank Deberry who must be carried to work with Vance. They obviously weren't enough, so Robbie traded Grimes away for "Butch" Henline, of the Phillies.

Meantime, the infield was permitted to stand pretty much, as is, and it was frightful to behold in 1926. In place of Chick Fewster at second base, Jay Partridge was culled from Memphis and seems to be an improvement on his predecessor. Partridge, a native of Mount Ville, Ga., hasn't hit much to date and doesn't look as though he will. But he is aggressive, fast and has what they call a "double play arm" and probably will make the riffle.

Fewster and Bill Rhiel, up from Greenville, via Youngstown, Ohio, are the remaining second basemen in camp and the former is certain to be carried for he can play good ball for a week or two at a time.

Herman On First.

Babe Herman is playing first base with marked indifference but he has no one to beat out of the job, with the possible exception of Del Bissonette, back again from Jersey City. The same club sent "Chuck" Corgan back for another trial at shortstop but Johnny Butler's great steadiness will get him the nod there.

Bobby Barrett, ex-Cub, is up from Memphis to play third base but the tip is that Bill Marriott will appear at the bag again this year. Jerry Standaert will be carried for another season because of his hitting, the club having exactly none.

Another change from the original line-up selected probably will be made in left field. Arnold Statz is back from Los Angeles to give the league another whirl but isn't hitting, so "Irish" Meusel probably will get the job. Max Carey, far from the man he was in many respects, will play centerfield and Harvey "Gink" Hendrick, former Yank, will be the right fielder. "Gink" hit .360 in New Orleans last year and looks the part.

In addition, Gus Felix still is around for no particular reason. So is Merwin Jacobson, to say nothing of Oscar Roettger, former Yankee pitcher who has been converted into an outfielder without causing undue excitement. Ernie Neitzski, up from Nashville and Birmingham, looks like a good man but may be a year away from proving it.

Not much of a club, outside of its pitching, no real punch at the plate, not too much speed and weak defensively in several important positions.

Bankbone Wins Tia Juana Trophy

Backbone won the Tia Juana cup, $11,000 to the winner, with Minervas and Dangerous second and third at Tia Juana yesterday. Backbone set an new record for the track, going the two-mile distance in 3:25 1-5.

A Tennis Hope — By Feg Murray

To those of you who are looking pessimistically about among the younger generation of tennis players for two or three names which, if added to that of Big Bill Tilden's, might possibly give a ray of hope for the successful defense of the Davis cup next summer, I would suggest that you do not overlook that powerful but erratic veteran of the courts, Francis T. Hunter of New York City. Hunter recently had an opevation performed for "tennis elbow", following which, in spite of the doctor's warning to "lay off tennis for at least two months," he trekked to Florida and there distinguished himself in various tournaments, winning the south Florida doubles title, for one thing, with Manuel Alonso as his partner.

'Twas not so long ago that Tilden stated that Hunter was a logical Davis cup player, and it seems that the words of the former national champion may have inspired the big New Yorker to go after that honor for all he is worth. With Richards and Howard Kinsey definitely out of it, and Billy Johnston more or less a back number, Hunter evidently thinks that the warding off of the French invansion should not be left to such youngsters as Ed Chandler, Lewis White, Al Chapin, George Lott and Wilbur Coen.

Hunter has had much experience in big tournament play, and has come ou with high honors, as his Olympic and Wimbledon doubles victories in 1924 attest. Paired with the now-outlawed Vincent Richards, he beat Borotra and La Coste and then Brugnon and Cochet at Paris three years ago, and at Wimbledon defeated that great combination of Williams and Washburn. Not only that, but Hunter reached the final round of the 1923 Wimbledon tournament in the singles, losing only to Billy Johnston.

The national indoor tournament, now in progress, was won in 1922 by Francis T. Hunter, and the same name graced the indood doubles trophy the two following years. Hunter ranked fifth in 1923, and now wants to move up into the first three, if possible. He seems to have overcome a rather unfortunate temper which handicapped him a few years ago, and it is quite possible that Tilden and Hunter will form the backbone of the 1927 United States Davis cup team.

Feg Murray Says—

The squawks incited by the new football rule that moved the goal posts back ten yards are nothing to the howls you would hear if the rules committee had moved the bleachers back ten yards

Risko-Siefert Fight Tonight In Pittsburgh

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., March 21.—Two youngsters on the upgrade in the climb for heavyweight boxing honors will meet here tonight when Johnny Ricko of Cleveland and Sandy Seifert of Pittsburgh face each other as the feature bout in a boxing card.

The men are scheduled forf ten rounds and are expected to present a striking contrast in ring tactics. Risko is a puncher, depending a great deal upon his strength in slugging for his offense, while the Pittsburgher is a crafty boxer.

The grand national steeplechase, which is to be run this year over the usual course near Liverpool on March 25, is considered the most gruelling race, to horse and rider, that thoroughbred horse racing has ever known.

Imperials Trim Peerless Five In Great Game 34-33

Junior Teams Battle In Extra Five Minute Period At Y. M. C. A. Saturday

The Gerson Imperials nosed out the fast Peerless Five quintet 34 to 33, in an extra five minute period basketball game played Saturday night on the Y. M. C. A. court. The game was played as preliminary to the Overlands-Keystones attraction.

The game was without doubt one of the best junior tilts of the year at the local floor. The Imperials secured victory by a rally in the extra five minutes of play.

The first quarter found the Peerless team on the long end of the score at 4 to 2, and at the end of the first half they had increased their lead to 12 to 8. The Imperials found themselves in the third period and finished the quarter in front with a score of 22 to 21. The fourth quarter was hard fought with the result deadlocked at the end of the regulation time. The Imperials flashed to the fore in the five minutes overtime and grabbed the victory at 34 to 33.

Carmen Marino with eight baskets was the feature player of the game and also one of the main reasons why the Peerless Five kept abreast of the Imperials, Fernati and Tomasella also played well for the Peerless team. For the winners the work of Rogovin with seven baskets was the most outstanding, while A. Plant and Zieve also played a fine brand of basketball.

The Peerless team lost the game mainly through their inability to cage fouls, their total for the affair was five out of twenty-two attempts, while on the other hand the Imperials caged fourteen out of twenty-three tries.

The lineup and summary:

Peerless Five 33		Imperials 34
B. Marino	F	A. Plant
C. Marino	F	Rogovin
Tomasella	C	S. Levine
Fernati	G	Davids
Mash	G	Zieve

Sub—Gennock.

Field goals — C. Marino 8, Tomasella 2, Fernati 3, Mash, A. Plant, Rogovin 7, S. Levine, Zieve.

Fouls—Peerless 5 out of 22. Imperials 14 out of 23.

Referee—McNicholas.

Beaver Valley Champions, Down Overlands In First Game Of Series

RANSOM IS STAR IN HECTIC FIGHT

The Keystone Well Drillers team of Beaver Falls, Valley Industrial champions, defeated the Rick-Overland boys 26 to 23 in the first game of a three game basketball series played on the Y. M. C. A. floor on Saturday night. The second game of the series will be played tonight at Beaver Falls.

The game Saturday marked the closed of the floor season for New Castle. It was the final appearance of the Rick-Overland team here this season and the boys fought hard for victory, but they were outclassed.

The Keystones took the lead in the first quarter of play by a score of 6 to 5. At the end of the first half the Overlands led by Nocera and Uhle came through with a 11 to 9 lead over their opponents.

Score Deadlocked

The third quarter of the game was hard fought and interesting with the teams mighty evenly matched. The score at the end of the third period stood deadlocked at 20-20. In the final quarter of play the Keystones with Ransom leading the attack shoved into the front of the picture and remained there till the battle was over. The Overlands tried desperately to stave off defeat by innumerable shots at the basket, but they fell short of the necessary points.

The playing of Ransom with three baskets and the work of H. Howarth and W. Howarth featured for the winners. Cuba, Nocera and Uhle played best for the Overlands. The Overlands were held to five baskets.

The lineup and summary:

Keystones 26		Ovelands 23
H. Howarth	F	Cuba
W. Howarth	F	Nocera
Lachwisky	C	Uhle
Murray	G	Kirker
Strayer	G	Jones

Subs—Fields, Ransom, Hoyland, Baptiste.

The loss of three teeth and a gash on the cheek was the price Howard Dallas, Steubenville, paid for standing too close to an amateur game on Bethany College baseball field. A batter let loose of the bat and it struck Dallas, standing near.

Homewood "Y" Boys Top New Castle In Brighton Tourney

New Castle Y. M. C. A. Team Works Way To Final Game But Are Defeated

NEW BRIGHTON, Pa., March 21.—Homewood captured the western Pennsylvania Y. M. C. A. intermediate basketball championship here Saturday evening by nosing out New Castle in the final game, 22 to 17. New Castle was leading by five points in the third quarter, but Homewood rallied and took the game out of the fire when New Castle tired.

The semi-final battle between New Castle and Washington brought the best basketball of the tournament. Both teams were fighting hard, with each holding the lead alternately. Woods was a big factor in the New Castle victory, while Sorges' defensive play was the outstanding feature of the Washington team.

Homewood got the breaks in the tournament. To start with, it drew a bye in the preliminary round and was to have played Sewickley in the first round, but the Sewickley team failed to appear. This sent the Homewood lads into the semi-finals, where they topped Wilmerding in a thrilling 14-13 contest which was not decided until the last minute.

Washington and Uniontown staged a bitter fight in the preliminary round when the Little Presidents emerged with a 17-16 victory. It was a tough break for Uniontown and a good one for Washington, as it ultimately meant the semi-finals.

Dartmouth Head Has New Football Plan

A plan that would limit players on varsity teams to Sophomores and Juniors and would give each college two varsity teams for major games, one to play at home and the other on the rival's gridiron, and coaching by undergraduates is the new grid plan advocated by President Hopkins of Dartmouth.

SPORTS DONE BROWN

By NORMAN E. BROWN

IN BASEBALL LAND — Ten years ago two husky young ball players were teammates on a shop team in Williamsport, Pa. One was Max Bishop. The other was Joe Boley. Bishop had won a rep for himself also with the Baltimore City college team.

Boley had graduated to the shop team from a semi-pro team in his home town of Mahanoy City. He played ball on off days at the mines, where he worked, and on Sundays.

In the spring of 1918 Bishop joined Jack Dunn's Baltimore Orioles and became the club's regular third sacker. The first time his chance came he told Dunn about Boley. "He'd make a good man for your team, Mr. Dunn," said Bishop. "I know. I played along side him.

They Aided Dunn's Team.

Dunn heeded Bishop's word and the outcome was that Boley joined Baltimore. Bishop shifted to second after the first season and held that post on five of Dunn's championship teams. Then Connie Mack paid Dunn something like $50,000 for Max as one of the frantic efforts he has made to build a pennant winning team. Boley remained with the Orioles to help them win two more pennants and then take the dust of Dan Howley's Toronto team last season. He was bought by Connie Mack last winter, as everyone knows, for a fortune.

Prophesy is Fulfilled.

When Bishop left the Oriole team four years ago, he said to Boley, "I'll see you later, Joe. You'll be up with the big boys yourself." And this spring the two old buddies have been holding their reunion.

Boley is destined to monopolize the shortstopping job this season. Bishop will find himself playing second when or if the season proves too long and vigorous for the aged Eddie Collins.

It seems fitting that they should finally find themselves playing side by side on a big league club.

The little romance might read better, perhaps, if they were now friendly rivals for the same berth —just depending upon how you like to have your stories end.

Whatever the results of his efforts Ty Cobb is unconsciously giving baseball players in general a lesson in perseverance, diligence and sticktoitiveness.

The veteran of over 20 years in the majors played in scarcely more than half the games through which he led the Detroit Tigers last season. While he remanied out partly to give the younger Manush and Red Wingo their opportunity the fact was apparent that his legs were in poor condition.

When he reported to the Athletics' camp shortly after March 1, he had done little more than tramp a bit in the open over the winter, between baseball hearings, to tune up the aforesaid legs.

He was well aware of the task ahead of him. The first day in camp he could have taken things easy. Instead, however, he went into the workout with the zest of a rookie. The next morning found his aging limbs and muscles howling for help and surcease. That morning and again in the afternoon he "pounded" them about the outfield. The stiffness seemed prone to stay. Cobb stuck to his grind.

The day I saw him in action against the New York Giants at Ft. Myers he was so stiff and lame that he fairly limped about the field. But he insisted on starting the game. Twice in the early innings he tried to make his famous sorties after wicked drives. Both times his tender legs and the sand of the outfield brought him to his knees.

If Cobb regains his old speed and pep it will be mainly because of his will power—his realization that the only way to come back is about his condition.

Training Camps

(International News Service)

BRADENTON, Fla., March 21.—The Phillies begin their last full week of spring training today with five games to be played this week. Manager Stuffy McInnis is well satisfied with the way the players are rounding into shape. The team showed marked improvement last week, winning three out of five games. Pitcher John Scott, the Phils' only holdout, is expected to come to terms today.

FORT MYERS, Fla.—Ty Cobb, the expensive "punch" Connie Mack added to his payroll during the winter, won the first of many games he is expected to win for the A's this year when his single broke up the game with the Giants at St. Augustine in the tenth inning yesterday. The Georgia Peach's double and single scored the A's only runs. The final score was 2 to 1.

SAN FRANCISCO—The Pirates split a double-header with Pacific coast topnotchers here, taking the measure of the Seals 11 to 1, only to bow to the Mission Bears 7 to 6. Upwards of 15,000 persons saw the exhibition.

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla.—Light work-outs were the order of the day for the New York Giants, who face but one scheduled game between now and Saturday, that with the Jacksonville club of the Southeastern League on Wednesday. The Philadelphia Athletics through the batting of Ty Cobb and the pitching of Jack Quinn, beat the Giants 2 to 1 yesterday.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Manager Huggins' axe has begun to swing. Jim Wiltse, a promising young righthander of the New York Yankees, was shipped to the Buffalo club of the International League last night. Indications are that more young Yanks will be shipped away.

CLEARWATER, Fla., — The Brooklyn Dodgers returned to the business of baseball today, after a brief fling on the links, the feature of the annual Al Lang dinner yesterday. "Jigger" Statz, Brooklyn outfielder, won in the players' division hands down, and Wilbert Robinson and Clark Griffith shared honors in the managerial class.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas — Ray Schalk and his White Sox family were here today for their four game exhibition series against the local Texas League club. The Sox were unable to play the third game of their series with the Cats at Fort Worth yesterday on account of rain.

LOS ANGELES—The Cubs believe they are now ready to start the season grind, having made a clean sweep of their exhibition series with the Los Angeles and Hollywood clubs of the Pacific Coast League. They swamped the Angels yesterday in the series final, 14 to 1. "We're ready for the pennant grind," said McCarthy.

TAMPA, Fla.—Bucky Harris has begun to swing the axe. It was announced today that "Curley" Ogden, who has been up to the majors for several seasons now, will be sent back to the minors. It had been predicted Ogden would gain a regular pitching berth with the Nats this year. The Senators went to Avon Park today to meet the champion Cardinals.

LAKELAND, Fla.—The Cleveland Indians will devote most of this week to hard practice in games between the regulars and Yanigans. Only two more exhibition games are scheduled before the tribe leaves here, one with the world champion St. Louis Cards and the other with the Columbus American Association team.

Reformatory Boy Attacks Autoist

Fugitive Captured By Three Men In Car After Mountain Flight

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Mar. 21. — Escaping from the Huntingdon Reformatory, Mike Mansky, who claims he is from Philadelphia and was committed to the reformatory for manslaughter, attempted to steal an automobile from Fred Coleman, of Williamsport, but landed in the clutches of Sheriff E. R. Taylor, of Centre county, and was returned to the reformatory.

Mansky made his way to Lewistown, thence across the Seven Mountains near Centre Hall, where Coleman asked him if he wanted a ride and the fugitive accepted.

Going down Nittany Valley, he asked Coleman to stop, as he wanted to get out. The driver did so and as he went to open the door Mansky struck him a hard blow in the face and ordered him from the car.

As Coleman stepped out, Mansky undertook to start the car, but Coleman made a grab for him and in the tussle the car was wrecked.

Mansky then took to his heels, but was captured by three men in a car and turned over to the sheriff, who returned him to the reformatory.

Bought By Telephone, Sight Unseen, Pitcher W. Moore Is Yankee Find

BY DAVIS J. WALSH
Sports Editor Internat'al News Service

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., March 21.—You have heard the story about the ball player who was left behind when the team started north to pay the ground rent. Now it's my turn. The Yankees have a large, healthy party in camp who was bought over the telephone, sight unseen, and the funny part of it is the fact that the gent looks like a real pitcher.

Scouts are maintained in a manner to which they usually aren't accustomed in order that they may comb the field for promising material, but if any of them ever heard of Mr. Wilcey Moore of Holis, Okla., it isn't of record that they paid him the slightest heed.

Long Unnoticed

Up until a few months ago Mr. Moore had toiled in the ballyard and had reached the ripening age of 29 without anyone in particular being the wiser.

However, it so happened that the official averages of the Sally League for 1926 were published in due season and among them could be noted the fact that Wilcey Moore of the Greenville club won 28 games and lost 4.

Edward G. Barrow, business manager of the Yankees, not only could but did note that fact.

"Ah, ha! quoth he in his best A. Conan Doyle mannare. "A pitcher. How do I know he is a pitcher? Anybody who wins 28 ball games anywhere is bound to be a pitcher."

Won Thirty Games

Mr. Barrow was wrong in only one particular. Wilcey Moore had won exactly 30 games for Greenville, but the extra two didn't show because the losers were Richmond of the Virginia League, in a post-season series. Otherwise, Mr. Barrow's reasoning was faultless. So was his directness of action.

Clutching a telephone firmly to his breast, he called the Greenville club via long distance and made the deal in a few words. It was a bit of a laugh to the boys, but they stopped laughing as soon as Wilcey started pitching. His work with the Yankees here, including participation in a game in which the Reds were held to three hits, has just about assured the young man of some steady employment at attractive pay for the summer season.

Poland To Connect Embassies By Radio

(International News Service)

WARSAW, March 21.—Polish embassies and legations all over the world will soon be in constant touch by wireless with the Polish foreign office. A huge broadcasting station is already being built at the government offices over which news, speeches of national and international importance, communications ,etc., will be sent to the diplomatic representatives everywhere.

The foreign office will first attempt to reach their embassies at Washington, Tokio and Teheran. These are the farthest from Warsaw and communications take longer to reach them. Gradually the countries outposts nearer home will be equipped and it is planned then to establish this modern diplomatic service.

The daily broadcasting will include a full news report of events in Poland whether directly connected with diplomacy or not. At night speeches will be broadcast.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

Jackson at Manassas.

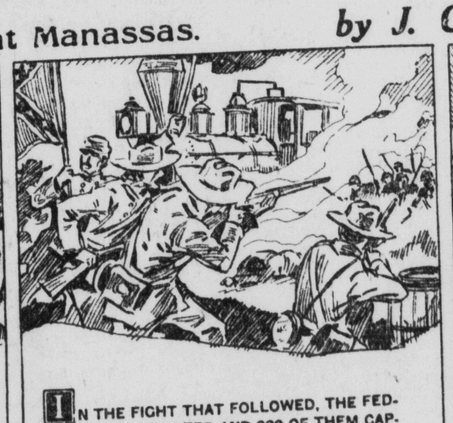

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

ON AUG. 27, 1862, HILL'S AND TALIAFERRO'S CORPS OF "STONEWALL" JACKSON'S ARMY MOVED INTO MANASSAS JUNCTION, THE GREAT UNION SUPPLY DEPOT, WHICH HAD BEEN CAPTURED THE DAY BEFORE. THE CONFEDERATES APPROPRIATED ALL THE SUPPLIES THEY COULD TAKE WITH THEM AND DESTROYED THE REMAINDER.

HARDLY HAD THE MAIN BODY OF CONFEDERATES ENTERED THE TOWN WHEN IT WAS ATTACKED BY GEN. TAYLOR, WITH A NEW JERSEY BRIGADE, WHO, NOT KNOWING THE STRENGTH OF HIS OPPONENTS, MADE A BRAVE BUT FUTILE ATTEMPT TO RECAPTURE THE STORES.

IN THE FIGHT THAT FOLLOWED, THE FEDERALS WERE ROUTED AND 200 OF THEM CAPTURED WITH THE TRAIN THAT HAD BROUGHT THEM FROM ALEXANDRIA. CONFEDERATE PICKETS WERE LATER THROWN OUT ALONG ALL THE ROADS LEADING TO MANASSAS TO GUARD AGAINST SURPRISE.

OTHER DETACHMENTS TORE UP THE TRACKS AND BURNED THE RAILROAD BRIDGE OVER BULL RUN, THUS CUTTING OFF COMMUNICATION WITH ALEXANDRIA, WHILE FITZ LEE'S CAVALRY PUSHED FORWARD AS FAR AS FAIRFAX COURT HOUSE ON A RECONNOISSANCE.

TOMORROW—POPE MOVES TO TRAP JACKSON.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Mar. 21.—The industrial stocks and specialties were under moderate selling pressure in early trading today, and the trend of prices was distinctly downward. Special weakness was apparent in the stocks which yielded most readily to bearish selling in the latter part of last week. Houston Oil lost an additional 8 points and Warner Brothers at 24 recorded a total shrinkage of about 15 points from last week's high.

Lackawanna carried its new movement forward to above 167, but the railroad stocks as a whole were dull and quiet. Stocks of the coal carriers reflected the prospect of a suspension in the bituminous coal mines next Friday. Investment buying of the rail shares was temporarily held up while the reaction was in progress.

Industrial reports over the week-end were favorable, though many of the prominent companies are continuously complaining about the difficulty of making commensurate with their increasing volume of business. Price declines in oil, sugar and other products have added to the troubles of many corporations since the turn of year.

Horses Coming Back On New York Streets In Amazing Numbers

By ARTHUR WIMER
New York Correspondent, New Castle News.

NEW YORK, March 21.—The horse is returning into his own. During the past three years the number of horses in New York City has shown an almost startling increase. Livery stables throughout the city are once more assuming the busy atmosphere of 50 years ago, new blacksmith shops are appearing and wagon factories are reporting an increasing demand for output. The art of driving is coming back.

Five years ago the outlook was black for New York stablemen. Rigs and horses stood idle. Sport cars and trucks were replacing smart buggies and heavy dray teams. Luxury was demanding speed for entertainment, business was demanding speed for efficiency. But business has found that speed in New York traffic is a negative quality, and once more horse teams and lumbering drays are returning to their own and threatening to displace the motor truck.

In New York there are several reasons for the return of the horse and wagon, but chief among these is the increasing congestion of traffic. The congestion is becoming so great that a more speedy means of transportation is wasted effort. The time that a motor truck would save is lost in standing idle when traffic is tied up.

No one in Manhattan discredits for a moment the superiority of the motor truck for use in long hauls or in hauls where speed is possible. It is more efficient and economical under those conditions. But those conditions do not exist in New York at the present, and for short hauls from dock to train to store, factory or house the horse-drawn vehicle has proved to be the more desirable means of transportation.

In New York City it costs six cents to keep a truck and driver on the street for one minute as against three cents a minute for a team and wagon. And in New York much of the time spent on the streets is wasted idling. There is a long wait at the docks before a load can be secured. A vehicle that stands 64 minutes on the dock will require only 14 minutes in actual loading and checking the shipment. The rest of the time is wasted in waiting in line. And the cost for a team and wagon while standing in line is just one-half that of the motor truck.

Another factor influencing New York commercial houses to turn from motor cars to the horse-drawn conveyance is the original price of the equipment. Today a team of heavy draft horses with harness costs about $1000. Dray wagon may be procured for $500. That $1,500 as an initial cost is considerably less than the price of a first-class truck. A driver is also less expensive to the employer than is a chauffeur or mechanician.

Today 73 per cent of the freight handled in the city is drawn by horses. One express company has 500 teams and wagons. And other business organizations are rapidly abandoning motors for the horse and wagon.

Forty Four Lose License To Drive

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 21.—Thirty-two drivers' licenses were revoked this week and the names of 12 more placed on the blacklist, the department of highways today announced.

There were eight revocations for intoxication and 11 blacklistings for the same cause. Thirteen licenses were revoked for larceny, eight of them from Pittsburgh.

Six licenses, including that of L. H. Price, Huntingdon, were revoked for transporting liquor.

Revocations for intoxication included Edward Kiernan, Warren and H. H. Siegrist, Lancaster.

Charles Gedwill, Shamokin, was cluded in the list of revocations for larceny.

Stanley Folchek, Wilkes-Barre, had his license revoked because of physical inability to operate a car.

Intoxication blacklistings included Walter Tluczek, Wilkes-Barre, and Alex Blazevich, Punxsutawney.

Car Is Recovered; Parts Are Missing

Ford roadster of P. L. Kerr of 1908 Highland avenue, stolen the last of the week from Water street, and in the rear of the Clutton Drug store, was recovered Saturday on the Youngstown-Bessemer road, just beyond Bessemer by Chief of Police Archie Shoup of that place. It is the machine reported to the police Saturday and believed to be that of Mr. Kerr. The machine had been completely stripped of all parts of any value by the thieves.

Pain is so often unnecessary

SUFFERED WITH PAIN IN NECK AND SHOULDERS

After three days' home treatment got complete relief

Following a severe attack of rheumatic fever, a New York girl suffered for days with excruciating pain in her neck and shoulders.

"After trying everything else," she writes, "my mother persuaded me to let her apply Sloan's Liniment, and after three days I felt no further pain."

It is amazing what Sloan's will do to relieve pain. This is because it doesn't just deaden the nerves. It stirs up the body to throw off the cause of the trouble.

Apply gently without rubbing. Instantly it sends a healing tide of fresh, new blood to the place that hurts. In just a few minutes the pain stops. So pleasant and easy to use too. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

Famous English Hero Comes Here To Make Living

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., March 21.—Robert Roberts of West Scranton, admitted as a citizen of the United States by Judge Albert W. Johnson, is the "hero of the Penbry explosion" and was decorated by King George. He is a member of the O. B. E., having been honored by King George, and has to his credit the saving of over 100 lives when the Germans set off a munitions plant in England.

Roberts found he and his wife and five children could not sell, cook, stew, bake, fry or broil gratitude and came to America because they could not make a living in England.

Now That It's Spring We Had A Mild Winter

WASHINGTON, Mar. 21.—Predictions of goose-bone prophets last fall for a severe winter were far afield in the view of the Weather Bureau, which says the winter now closing was one of the mildest of a long mild series.

The winter of 1917-18 was severe practically everywhere east of the Rocky Mountains, but since that time the winters have been unusually mild.

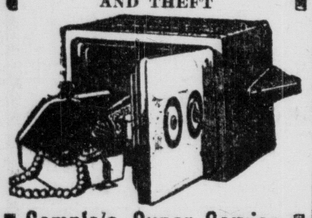

In all parts of the country this winter was warmer than normal, except in local areas in the Northwest, the bureau says. It was especially warm in the South, and fruit trees throughout the Central and Southern states have been prematurely advanced so that they face the danger of a late frost.

You can estimate the size of a town by the size of the scandal required to make its tongue wag.

Postmaster For Portersville Is Named Temporarily

By GEORGE H. MANNING.
(Washington Correspondent of The News.)

WASHINGTON, D. C. March 21.—Congressman J. Howard Swick of Beaver Falls has recommended to the postoffice department the appointment of Kenneth L. Newton as acting postmaster at Portersville, Butler county, to succeed his father Clarence S. Newton who died recently after being postmaster for a number of years.

It is expected that young Newton's appointment will be made permanently shortly.

GROVE CITY

Many warnings have been given regarding the question of dogs running at large in Grove City by the city authorities, but still daily letters and complaints are being received. So numerous have been the complaints that Burgess Clark issued an order that the law be enforced without exception.

L. M. and P. W. Book local contractors have been awarded the contract for the construction of a two story brick building by Dr. George Harry. The new building will be constructed on the site of the old building which was destroyed recently by fire on South Center street. A veterinary hospital and office room is included in the first floor plans with a six room apartment on the second floor.

The frame house located on the lot has been sold to Mr. Morrison who has moved it to a buiding site on West Main street. Excavating for the new building will start at once.

Dr. Beeler's class in the Sunday school of the First Presbyterian church was pleasantly entertained Friday evening by Mrs. Glasgow's class in the social room of the church. The evening's entertainment consisted of dinner served at 6 o'clock followed by a program of speeches from different members of the two classes and special music.

Mrs. Samuel Zwemer an accepted authority n the Mohammedan world will be at the First United Presbyterian church on Wednesday March 23. Mrs. Zwemer will speak at two meetings on the conditions in those countries of the world under the control of Mohammedism. At the afternoon meeting Mrs. Zwemer will talk to the women of the church and to all women of the community who may wish to be present. Following the afternoon meeting an informal social hour will be enjoyed. In the evening an open meeting will be held in the church auditorium to which all members of the church are invited.

TAKE FOODSTUFFS

Mrs. McDonald of Galbreath avenue, complained to the police on Saturday of boys breaking into an enclosed porch and stealing foodstuffs. An officer was detailed to make an investigation.

Ask a Real Estate Man!
Ask any real estate man this question: "Does the roof make a great difference in getting the best price for a house?" He won't need to think twice. His only possible answer is "Yes."
You might say that a roof of Barrett Asphalt Shingles pays for itself. Handsome and rugged, a roof like this increases a house's value by much more than its cost.
We've had wide experience in roofings . . . Seen all kinds . . . Tested them out. And we'll stand back of Barrett Roofings. They're handsome, rugged—rot-proof, rust-proof and fire-safe. Let us show them to you!
We endorse Barrett ROOFINGS
Mr. H.: "Congratulations! I hear you got a good price for your house."
Mr. K. "Yes, and I guess I can thank the wife for it. She had me put on the new roof." That's what clinched the sale."
